Senators Reject Documents In Probe Of Dodd's Ethics

Klein Relationship Investigation Starts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Ethics Committee today threw out as evidence in the investigation of misconduct charges against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., documents taken from the Senator's office.

Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., said "the committee feels that the copies of such papers are sufficiently stigmatized so as to preclude their use as evidence."

Stennis made the announcement as the committee began closed hearings on Dodd's relationship with Gen. Julius Klein, a registered agent of West German business interests and a friend of many senators.

An estimated 4,000 documents of various kinds which Dodd claims were stolen from his office were rejected as evidence by the committee's ruling.

These were the papers which two columnists used partly as the basis for a series of critical columns about Dodd, including charges that he performed favors for Klein. Dodd is suing them for libel.

TWO ATTORNEYS

Flanked by two attorneys, the 59-year-old Dodd arrived at the hearing room in a glare of television lights. Of the hearings, he said, "I am glad they are underway. I've asked for them."

It was the first time a senator has faced a tribunal of his peers since the Senate censured the late Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy, R-Wis. 12 years ago.

Also in the hearing room was James P. Boyd, Dodd's former administrative assistant who has admitted his part in the removal of documents fro Dodd's office.

OPEN STATEMENT

In an open statement —copies of which were given reporters outside the hearing room — Stennis disclosed that the committee had started inquiries before Dodd requested a formal investigation of the published charges.

Since then, Stennis said, the committee has reviewed "thousands of papers and interviewed and reinterviewed 25 witnesses in its pre-hearing development of the facts."

"That Sen. Dodd and Mr. Klein maintained a close relationship; that Klein in effect was an agent of a foreign government and was not

Federal Civil Rights Trials Limited By Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled today civil rights prosecutions may be removed from state to federal courts only in limited circumstances.

To rule otherwise, Justice Potter Stewart said, would "work a wholesale dislocation of the historic relationships between the state and federal courts in the administration of criminal law."

In the case in which Stewart spoke, the court by a 5-4 vote said 29 persons arrested on various local charges in 1964 in LeFlore County, Miss., cannot have their trials transferred from state to federal court.

Stewart said, "no federal law confers an absolute right on private citizens—on civil rights advocates, on Negroes, or on anybody else—to obstruct a public street, to contribute to the delinquency of a minor, to drive an automobile without a license, or to bite a policeman."

Further, Stewart said, no federal law confers immunity from state prosecution on such charges.

Justice William O. Douglas dissented in the Mississippi case, joined by Chief Justice Earl Warren and Justices William J. Brennan and Abe Fortas.-

Douglas quoted from James Madison and Chief Justice John Marshall to support his argument that since the republic was established "the federal regime was designed. . .to afford some protection against local passions and prejudices by the important pretrial federal remedy of removal."

Joining in Stewart's opinion were Justices Hugo L. Black, Tom C. Clark, John M. Harlan and Byron White.

In a companion decision, the court held unanimously that if rights to equal accommodations set forth in the 1964 civil rights law are involved, there can not be any prosecution—in either federal or state courts.

Justice Stewart also announced this decision, which was in the case of 20 persons arrested in the spring of 1963 when they tried to obtain service in privately owned restaurants in Atlanta, Ga.

Here the Supreme Court directed the U.S. District Court in Atlanta to hold a hearing to see if the 20 persons were ordered to leave for racial reasons only.

Stewart said this would make out a case for removal from state to federal court, and at the same time would call for dismissal of the prosecution by federal court.

HOLDING 'EM OFF AT THE PASS —Douglas Tierney of Novato was a fascinated spectator at the Novato Western Weekend Saturday; and when the Nave Indians hove into view, he did what any red-blooded western pioneer would have done —he pulled out the old hawgleg and went into action. Good Rating Is Given To Western Weekend

Novato's Western Weekend ended yesterday with a second edition of the rodeo drawing 2,500 people. Officials rated the Western Weekend one of the best organized ever—but judged attendance down one-half from last year's record.

Everything went smoothly during the weekend, except for some minor altercations with a Hell's Angels - type motorcycle group, the Gypsy Jokers from San Jose, and a number of contestants collapsing from the heat while they waited to march in the parade Saturday.

It took two and one-half hours for the parade to pass the reviewing stand.

The annual water fights between Kentfield and Novato fire departments was won by Kentfield, with the score a whooping 11 to 0. The exuberant contest had been under way for about an hour Saturday afternoon when a general alarm fire was reported on the hill behind Railroad Avenue.

Both fire departments promptly abandoned the fight and dashed off to fight the grass fire together. The soggy firemen fought the blaze for some 45 minutes, then decided to call the water fight finished.

Miffed Novato firemen reported today they only lost the contest "because Kentfield practices. We don't."

Harley May, world champion steer wrestler of Oakdale, Stanislaus County, with $393, was top money winner in the two-day Western Weekend rodeo.

May had the best two-day average in the saddle bronc competition and was third in bareback riding and shared sec-

A 14-mile perimeter was established Sunday around a 5,500 acre brush fire on the slopes of Breckenridge Mountain, 25 miles east of Bakersfield. Another 1,500-acre fire five miles away was controlled.

The fires were started by an electrical storm Wednesday night.

Senate Sends House Airport Aid Bill

The measure was sent to the House by voice vote without opposition and without debate.

Air Pollution Damage Put In Billions

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Air pollution causes billions of dollars in damage to property in the United States each year, William H. Stewart, surgeon general of the U.S. Public Health Service, stated today.

"If the problem threatened us in no other way," he told 300 experts at a nation-wide conference of the Air Pollution Control Association, "we would have reason enough to increase our efforts to control it.

"We have, however, an even more compelling reason: Air pollution threatens our health.

"Only five of the 24 largest metropolitan areas, now are served by a regional air pollution program. These 24 areas are the homes of some 69 million people —about half of the nation's urban population — and, in general, tend to have serious air pollution problems."

"There is little doubt," the surgeon general summed up, "that air pollution is at the very least a contributing factor to the rising incidence of chronic respiratory diseases—lung cancer, emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and asthma. . .

"We have within our power the opportunity to create a truly healthful environment consistent with our high levels of economic development and scientific achievement.

"To create such an environment, we must move much more swiftly toward the goal of improved air pollution control in every region of the country."

Cycle Gang Forced From Novato Area

A riotous gang of motorcyclists from San Jose temporarily closed two bars and engaged in a street fight with Novato residents during Novato Western Weekend.

None of the gang, known as the Gypsy Jokers, was arrested, although Novato police booked two local residents as result of the fracas.

The invaders were driven out twice — on Saturday and again last evening the second— time with 12 California Highway Patrol cars reinforcing Novato police and the lawmen threatening to use riot guns.

The trouble started about 4:30 p.m. Saturday in De Borba's Bar at 819 Grant Avenue, reported Police Chief Robert di Grazia.

CLOSES BAR

Eighteen of the Gypsy Jokers and their female companions "took over" the bar, according to Di Grazia. With the wife of one of the "Jokers," they staged an indecent sex show, according to Allie Simontacchi, the bartender.

Simontacchi closed the bar. Robert D. Lynn, a state Alcholic Beverage Department control officer who was present, called police.

By the time police arrived from the station, only two blocks away, the Jokers had poured out of the bar onto the sidewalk and a gang fight had started with a mob which Di Grazia estimated included about 75 Novatans.

"Actually there were only seven or eight men fighting when we broke it up," said the chief.

Christopher revealed he has learned that Brown bought a $2 million libel insurance policy for Pearson before the columnist would,print data compiled by the governor's staff.

"I've got enough material on Pat Brown to blow his re-election campaign sky high, and I intend to use it," the defeated candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination said.

Bicyclist Hit By Car, Dies Of Skull Fracture

A 27-year-old bicyclist, on the first leg of a trip to Canada, was killed when he was struck by a car on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, just west of White's Hill, at 5:59 p.m. Saturday.

The victim was George Robert Marshall, a former graduate student at University of California at Berkeley, whose last address was Berkeley.

The California Highway Patrol reported Marshall was bicycling west when he was struck by a westbound car driven by Paul C. Lorencz, 48, of Forest Knolls.

Marshall suffered a fractured skull and was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital at 6:30 p.m., reported Coroner Frank J. Keaton.

Marshall's wife, Sandra, who was bicycling about 15 feet behind her husband, told highway patrol officers the car narrowly missed her before striking her husband.

The Marshalls were on the first day of a bicycle trip to Cloverdale, B.C., Mrs. Marshall's hometown, highway patrol officers reported.

Keaton said they left San Francisco about 12:30 p.m. and were traveling off the main highways, headed for Petaluma and then Glen Ellen in Sonoma County to visit a friend, Robert Streetor, with whom they had stayed Friday night.

For most of the journey Marshall had been bicycling behind his wife to be sure that nothing happened to her, Keaton reported. Periodically, he would ride in front, and had taken the lead when the accident happened.

The Marshalls were planning to live in Vancouver, B. C., and had all their possessions with them, Keaton said.

Marshall's death was the 12th in Marin traffic this year as compared to nine at the same time last year.

Surviving are his wife and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Marshall of El Segundo, Los Angeles County.

Marchers Will Send Voter Group To City Of Slayings

BELZONI, Miss. (UPI) — Leaders of the "Mississippi freedom march" said today they would send a group of voter registration workers tomorrow to Philadelphia, Miss., where the last organized civil rights workers to appear were murdered in 1964.

Herb Callendar of the Congress of Racial Equality CORE said the group would be sent by car and it would organize a demonstration om Philadelphia on Wednesday. Philadelphia is located on the extreme western side of the state. The march is now located in the eastern Mississippi delta.

The marchers walked silently to the Belzoni post office this morning in contrast to a sullen confrontation of Negroes and whites Sunday in this little delta town where the civil rights group spent the night.

About 175 persons began singing "freedom" songs outside the post office and began urging Negroes to register to vote with the federal riegistrars inside.

Dr. Robert Green of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference said Floyd McKissick, the head of CORE, and possibly Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. would be in Philadelphia for the demonstration.

During the summer mf 1964, Michael Schwerner and Andrew Goodman, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, a Meridian, Miss. Negro, were murdered there while doing civil righhs work.

Eighteen persons, including Neshoba County Sheriff Lawrence Rainey, have been indicted under federal laws in connection with the deaths. They are scheduled to go on trial in federal court in Meridian on Sept. 26 on charges of conspiring to deprive the three youths of their rights.

Waldie Sworn In As Congressman

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Assemblyman Jerome R. Waldie, 40, was sworn in today as representative of California's 14th Congressional District.

The Democrat was sworn in by House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., at 12:04 p.m., jour four minutes after the House met.

He succeeded the late Rep. John F. Baldiwn, a Republican, as congressman for the district consisting of Contra Costa County.

DeGaulle Starts Moscow Visit

MOSCOW (UPI) —President Charles de Gaulle arrived in Moscow today on an historic East-West peace mission. He and Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny said they hoped the visit would increase European security and world peace.

"The whole universe knows what importance is attached to this visit I am about to make," De Gaulle said as he stepped from his French jet which was escorted across Russia by Soviet jet fighters.

Diplomats said the visit was the most important political move he has ever made.

Ky Tightens Hold On Hue

Buddhist Fasts For 13th Day

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's troops tightened their hold on Hue today and sealed off the hospital room where the leader of the northern Buddhist revolt continued his antigovernment, anti-American fast for a 13th day.

While the rebellion led by militant monk Thich Tri Quang appeared to lose more ground, Ky's military regime pushed ahead toward promised civilian elections Sept. 11 on a wave of confidence voiced by Ky as he began his second year in office.

SIGNS DECREE

Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu signed a decree setting the election date and providing for a 108-seat constituent assembly to draft a constitution. The government, as expected, rejected the proposal of its electoral commission to allow the assembly to transform itself into a governing parliament.

The decree also showed the junta's determination to remain in power well into 1967 by requiring a second round of voting for a national legislature three to six months after the generals approve the constitution.

HEAVY FIRE

American forces continued to shoulder the major fighting. U.S. 101st Airborne Division units locked in a heavy fire fight with a Communist force of undetermined strength that attacked the paratroopers near Tuy Hoa, 240 miles northeast of Saigon, this morning.

Helicopters brought in more American troops as the fighting continued into the afternoon. There was no report on Communist losses but American casualties were described as light.

U.S. Air Force B-52s spearheaded the air war by returning to jungles northwest of Saigon to pound a suspected Viet Cong troop and headquarters area. However, the Communists' "Liberation Radio," an objective of yesterday's B-52 raid, was still heard broadcasting.

Off the Mekong Delta south of Saigon, U.S Coast Guard cutters intercepted the second gun-running trawler of he month and the third this year. A boarding party seized a large store of ammunition and weapons, apparently bound for the Viet Cong, after the unidentified trawler was driven aground in flames.

Within hours of Ky's anniversary prediction of final victory over the Communists in the next year, Viet Cong guerrillas made two attacks in the northern provinces.

Chiropractor Charges Medical Transgressors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A prominent chiropractor says new laws are needed to protect the public from a "dangerous minority of transgressors" in the medical profession.

"Incompetence, unethical practices, fraud and disregard for patient welfare have infected a significant minority of the medical profession," Dr. Leonard J. Savage told the American Chiropractic Association's annual meeting Sunday.

Dr. Savage, the association's public information director, added that "only prompt corrective legislation can conserve the health and lives of millions of Americans imperiled by dangerous medical practices.

"Because the medical licenses of all 50 states permit all physicians to practice unlimited surgery as well as unlimited medicine," Savage said, "there is virtually no legal restriction on the scope of the services performed by every medical doctor —whether he is properly trained to perform them or not.

"How many surgical mutilations have taken place that could have been avoided by proper controls?" Savage asked.

South Koreans Are Building Anti-Infiltration Barriers

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — American and South Korean forces are building anti-infiltration barriers across Korea to impede the flow of Communist agents through the no man's land between North and South Korea, a United Nations Command spokesman said today.

The spokesman said work on the barriers—barbed wire—had started with the approach of summer. He said wide areas of thick undergrowth used as cover by clandestine agents were being cleared.

Communist infiltrators step up their activity every summer when the undergrowth is thickest. The U.N. Command spokesman said Korean and American sentinels along the 155-mile truce line had been alerted to intensify their surveillance.

The barriers are something new. They have never before been tried to the extent now being attempted.

Peruvian Army Crushes Revolt

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The Peruvian army says it has crushed an attempt by Communist guerrillas to spark an anti-government uprising among Peru's impoverished Indians and peasants.

During a nine-month campaign that began last July, paratroopers and rangers killed 62 guerrillas, including leaders of three rebel commands, the army said Sunday. Thirty-two soldiers and police were reported killed in the battles high in the Andes.

In one area the rebels killed six civilians and tortured two policemen to death, the army said.

You Can Win — Enter Now!

Send in your estimate of the number of news stories "favorable" to young people (under 21 years of age) which will be published during June in the Independent-Journal. "Favorable" stories are those which report any and all activities of young people which may be considered constructive and from which no inference may be drawn that the activity or behavior reported is harmful to the young people involved or to society. (As opposed, for example, to delinquency).

Stories may cover every aspect of community life: education, cultural activities, jobs, social affairs, athletics, clubs, travel, hobbies, politics, business, careers, vacation activities, meetings, conferences, college plans, etc. Note: the Independent-Journal will report the normal run of such activities throughout the month of June.

PANEL OF CONSULTANTS TO AID

News stories will be reviewed for content and evaluation by a panel composed of:

- VIRGIL S. HOLLIS, Marin County Superintendent of Schools
- PAUL MILLER, Instructor in Journalism, College of Marin
- MRS. LILLIAN SEAVER, Lecturer in Journalism, English Dept., Dominican College
- EDWARD J. NEUMEIER, Coordinator of Public Information, Tamalpais Union High School District

Marked copies of the Independent-Journal showing the evaluation of each news story will be on public display following completion of the contest.

A FEW SIMPLE RULES

1. Contest open to everyone—all ages
2. Two prize groups for adults and young people under 21.
3. Only one entry per person allowed.
4. Use Contest Entry blank shown here.
5. Entries must be postmarked no later than midnight, Tuesday, June 21.
6. In case of ties, first postmarked entries win. Decisions of judges final.
7. I-J employees and families not eligible.

A FEW OBSERVATIONS ON THE CONTEST

The Independent-Journal and the panel of consultants recognize that evaluation of what is "favorable" or "unfavorable" in a news story constitutes an opinion. Some stories undoubtedly will appear controversial; others may lie within a neutral "gray" zone. In the main, however, the great bulk of stories fall within the familiar bounds of what society as a whole considers either favorable or unfavorable. Every attempt will be made to apply reasonable interpretations. Determinations by the panel will be final.

Voydat Asks To Give His Side Of Picture

Mitchell L. Voydat, assistant superintendent of San Rafael schools who was severely criticized in a California Teachers Assn. personnel standards commission report, has charged he was not allowed to answer his detractors before the commission's investigative panel.

Voydat, who is teaching a course for school administrators at Houston, Tex., made the charge in a letter to James M. Williamson, executive of the CTA's Bay Section personnel standards commission. Williamson was in charge of the San Rafael investigation.

Wrote Voydat:

"What you have accepted is partial truths, mis-statements, misunderstandings . . . and even falsehoods. To accept this as evidence and draw the conclusions you have is unthinkable by intelligent beings . . .

"Certainly, out of an air of professionalism—if not courtesy would have demanded that the chairman of CTA representatives ask that I be allowed to present the facts as I saw them oncerning each and every episode indicated in the report. That I was not allowed to do . . .

"An individual charged with a crime is not judged guilty . . . until he has an opportunity to present his side and confront the evidence.

"Where was this opportunity? Obviously, I was not given this opoprtunity. The panel acted as a quasi judge and jury, combined . . .

"Did the panel consider to any great extent the exodus of administrators in the district over the years? And what relationship this had to a high school in the district? What were the historic problems that have existed for some 15 years? . . . Why were the greater majority of concerns from one school?

"What were the distinctive characteristics of the group presenting information?"

Voydat asked to be permitted to re-appear before the panel "to present the totality of facts that concern each and every incident cited."

In a mimeographed statement describing the role and operations of its personnel standards commissions, the CTA says:

"The commissions adhere strictly to their policy that no evidence or charge of unprofessional conduct will be included in a report or considered in reaching conclusions unless the person charged is given an opportunity to answer such charge."

The commission charged Voydat with unprofessional conduct and suggested he should resign.

Resolution To Keep Stars, Bars Lower

LEBANON, Conn. (AP) — The Connecticut Department of the Jewish War Veterans of America has adopted a resolution calling for legislation against the practice of flying a Confederate flag at the same level or at a higher level than the flag of the United States.

A spokesman for the department said this practice is common in many Southern states, and that letters will be sent to congressmen protesting such use of the flag.

Marin Ranks 18 On Drivers

Marin, accounting for 104,500 of the state's 10.1 million licensed drivers, ranks 18th among California's 58 counties. That information was contained in a recent report issued by the Department of Motor Vehicles in Sacramento.

Based on a research sample of 225,000 drivers and population estimates, the breakdown gives Los Angeles County 3.7 million drivers, followed by Orange, 615,000; San Diego, 606,300; Alameda, 542,900; Santa Clara, 484,200; San Francisco, 366,800; Sacramento, 338,600, and San Bernardino, 337,100.

In 58th place is rustic Alpine county with 300 licensed drivers. Alpine, however, can claim more drivers per 100 persons than first place Los Angeles, or 18th place Marin. Alpine has 82.3 drivers per 100 of population, Los Angeles, 76, and Marin 78.2.

Cycle Crash Breaks Leg Of Novatan

Cary D. Fergus of 134 San Andreas Drive was treated at Novato General Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol reported Fergus was driving north on Highway 101 when his motorcycle collided with an eastbound car driven by William J. Sauber, 18, of 23 Sunny Hill Road, Novato.

The patrol said Fergus was driving on the right shoulder of the highway past a line of cars stopped by traffic congestion, shortly after the start of the Western Weekend parade.

Minutes later there was an accident on Highway 101, just north of Lamont Avenue, also resulting from the traffic jam, officers reported.

A car driven by Jules Alan Steele, 25, of San Lorenzo, Alameda County, struck the rear of a car driven by Alfredo S. Duran, 52, of Milpitas, Santa Clara County, which was stopped in the line of traffic, officers reported.

Three-year-old Delores Marie Duran, a passenger in Duran's car, was bumped on her forehead. She was treated at Novato General Hospital.

Hillbillies Float Banned

A gang of young Novatons who dressed up as hillbillies and put on a shotgun wedding act in Saturday's Western Weekend parade apparently didn't get any laughs from the parade organizers.

Paul Dock, director of the parade for Western Weekend Inc., today apologized for 'the distasteful conduct of the entry known as Novato Hillbillies." And he said they'd be barred from future parades.

Dressed in long-johns and tattery old clothes, the hillbillies whooped it up from one end of Grant Avenue to the other, raising the biggest laughs in the parade, with float depicting an old outhouse.

Council To Review Debris Fill Proposal

Corte Madera Town Council, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in town hall, will be asked its position on Frank M. Burke's plans to fill with debris 100 acres of land east of Highway 101 for eventual use as marina industrial property and a nine-hole golf course.

The council will also receive Town Mgr. Ronald L. Usher's recommendation that it postpone reconstruction of Palm Avenue for almost a year and substitute reconstruction of Conow Street, estimated to cost $14,000.

Limb Crushes Car

Alaric C. Sheldon of 166 Solano Street, San Rafael, reported the roof of his car was crushed yesterday afternoon when a large limb fell from a eucalyptus tree at the parking lot behind Coleman School, San Rafael.

registerdd as such; that this fact was known to Sen. Dodd or should have been known and that for Sen. Dodd to continue this relationship under all the facts and circumstantes controlling was an abuse of the senator's power, prerogatives, and influence as a member of the U.S. Senate."

Stennis said a trip by the Connecticut Democrat to West Germany in April, 1964, "appears to be a critical element of his relationship to Julius Klein."

Stennis' statement added: "The committee will accordingly be especially interested in any evidence which seeks to establish or refute the allegation that Senator Dodd employed his office sanction of such a trip as a subterfuge for a scheme to improve the reputation which Julius Klein had in Germany."

Stennis said some allegations concerning the Klein-Dodd relationships "were considered by the committee to be too frivolous or trivial to warrant hearings and will be disposed of otherwise."

Stennis said the committee wanted to make it clear that its investigation was not based on documents taken from Dodd's offiecd. All papers "offered in the current hearings were voluntarily given to the committee by Dodd," he said.

Dodd, who first gained a name for himself as chief U.S. trial counsel at the Nuremburg trial of Nazi war criminals, has been granted the privilege of cross-examining witnesses at the hearings—a rarity in congressional investigations.

The inquiry is based on charges by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson that Dodd ran errands, carried out assignments and accepted gifts and favors from Klein. The columnists also made many other charges.

A short, stocky, silver-haired man—he has been described as one of the few senators who actually looks like a senator—Dodd is considered a close friend of President Johnson. He was the only new England Democratic leader of any consequence to support Johnson against John F. Kennedy for the 1960 democratic presidential nomination.

First Session Today On Novato's Budget

The Novato City Council will hold its first budget meeting at 8 p.m. today in the Novato Community House.

City Mgr. J. Julien Baget will give his budget message and the council will start deliberations on the $904,185 operating budget proposed for fiscal 1967. As proposed, the city's tax rate would drop to 62 cents per $100 assessed valuation. That was the general rate this year, but an additional 30 cents was levied for a special park purchase fund for one year only.

To Review Budget

The Novato Unified School District board will review its proposed $6,397,427 budget for fiscal 1967 when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the administration building.

Jury Can't Decide In Assault Case

A jury in Marin Superior Court has failed to agree on a verdict in a case against scriptwriter and author Theodore L. Bredt, 45, of San Rafael, who was charged with assault with a deadly weapon.

The two-day trial ended with a hung jury Friday night after evidence had been given that Bredt, of 10 Sonoma Avenue, had pulled a gun on a male visitor he found at the Fairfax home of his ex-wife Dec. 28.

Dale Hamilton, of 253 Scenic Avenue, San Anselmo, said he was a visitior at the home of Mrs. Nina Bredt at 108 Dominga Avenue, Fairfax, when Bredt walked in and held a gun at his head.

On the stand, Bredt said he had known Hamilton since July, 1964, and objected to his seeing Mrs. Bredt and the couple's children. He said he did not point the gun at Hamilton and handed it to him when asked to do so.

Bredt had been arrested on a complaint signed by Mrs. Bredt and Hamilton.

The mob refused to break up. Police called for reinforcements from the highway patrol, which sent six cars.

The crowd moved to the Town Club at 1005 Grant Avenue. To prevent a repetition of the earlier scene, police asked William Bertsch, the owner, to close that tavern, which he quickly did.

As the crowd continued in ugly mood, James Daniel Russell, 21, of 1132 Third Street, Apt. 4, Novato, was arrested for drunkenness and resisting arrest.

Yesterday, said Di Grazia, 37 of the Gypsy Jokers arrived about 5 p.m. They were met by police and highway patrolmen, who warned they would use riot guns if any trouble started.

That was too much for the Jokers. After about 45 minutes, during which they were closely followed by the officers, the invaders left. Highway patrol cars escorted them from town.

Another Union Threatening Bus Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Striking employees of Western Greyhound Lines have until Thursday to vote on a government proposal to end their five-week contract dispute.

Officials of the Amalgamated Transit Union said their 5,000 members in the 11 western states have until that time to mail their ballots here.

However, approval by the strikers will not insure that the buses will roll at once because another union threatened a walkout against Greyhound to back its contract demands.

Loral 1305 of the Automotive Machinists Union said its 375 members employed here would walk off the job unless Greyhound increased its latest wage and fringe benefit offer.

The government proposal to the Amalgamated Transit Union was neither rejected or endorsed by the union's chief negotiators. It was drawn up by federal mediators because talks were failing to produce any solid results.

Details of the pact were not made public.

Bobby To Support Johnson In 1968

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says he supports President Johnson for re-election in 1968 and he plans only to run for the Senate in 1970.

Kennedy was met by newsmen yesterday at Kennedy Airportupon returning from a two-week overseas tour during which he visited South and East Africa, Athens and Rome. With him was his wife, Ethel.

National politics came up when the New York Democrat was asked to comment on an assertion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., that he would consider supporting Kennedy in the 1968 presidential race if his views on Viet Nam remained the same. Kennedy has been a critic of administration policy in Viet Nam.

Said Kennedy: "I have no plan to run for anything but the Senate in 1970 and I support President Johnson in 1968."

Kennedy said he had found "a great deal of concern" and "a lack of understanding" in Africa concerning United State policies in Viet Nam.

He termed the treatment of Negroes in racially segregated South Africa "heart-rending and cruel" but he opposed any cut-off in trade because, he said, the greatest sufferers would be the blacks.

Senators Charge Reds Stirred War Protests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Communists played a key role in organizing campus anti-war demonstrations, the Senate Internal Security subcommittee asserted last night.

"The Communisty Party, USA brand may be found upon every phase of the rallies, from planning to the final effort to proselytize young people," the subcommittee said in a report on hearings it held 13 months ago.

There is an "official link of the Communist Party, through DuBois clubs, with campus activities directed against policies of this country with respect to Viet Nam," the report continued.

The report also said:

"A traditional tool of the communists is infiltration, and it was used to the hilt on campus after campus. Student-body grievances were either fraudulent, created, stimulated or exagerated as a catalytic means of setting of mob explosions.

"Once aroused, students' energies were channeled and directed by professionals and their disciples into forums, rallies, protests, resolutions, defiance of law and out-and-out law violations."

At the Berkeley campus of the University of California, the report singled out Bettina Aptheker, a student active in the Free Speech Movement.

The report said:

"This young woman, who later admitted she was a communist...followed tactics which are easily recognized by those who scrutinize the zigs and zags of Communism:

"1. Concealment of her identity as a Communist while pretending to share with her fellow students a distress over American policies;

"2. Refusal to cooperate with the American government or its branches;

"3. Refusal to accept the opportunity to comment, particularly when her statement would be sworn;

"4. A bating of American officials by following the best-defense-is-offensive tactic;

"5. The framing of irrelevant questions as a distraction...

"Miss Aptheker has thus supplied a classic example of Communist infiltration of a mass organization."

Crime Rate Reported Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sharp increase in rape paced a 6 per cent increase in the nation's crime rate for the first quarter of this year over the corresponding quarter of 1965, the FBI reported today.

The number of reported rapes jumped 14 per cent with a 22 per cent rise in the north central states and an 18 per cent in cities of more than 25,000 persons.

Suburbia continued to record the sharpest crime rate increase — 9 per cent. Rural crime rose 8 per cent and big city crime 4 per cent.

The violent crimes of murder (4 per cent), rape, robbery (4 per cent), and assault (9 per cent) increased an aggregate of 7 per cent, while the property crimes of burglary (4 per cent), larceny (11 per cent) and auto theft (5 per cent) rose an average of 6 per cent.

All geographic regions of the nation registered crime rate increases with the north central and Southern states leading the rest with 8 per cent rises.

The FBI figures were based on reports from 5,034 law enforcement agencies representing more than 143 million of the population.

Canada Geese Stop In Maine

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The State Fish and Game Department hopes that 78 Canadian geese that took up residence in Maine last week will like it well enough to stay — and return in the fall.

The department has been trying to figure out some way of attracting Canadian geese for several years. Thousands pass through Maine each spring, but pass the state during the fall for some reason, the geese bypass the state during the fall migration.

The 78 geese were captured and kept in the state in an attempt to change their homing habits.

Another Redwood Park Hearing Is Scheduled

CRESCENT CITY Calif. — (UPI)—A U.S. Senate subsible creation of a redwood national park in Northern California plans to hold another public hearing on the controversial issue in the near future.

The subcommittee on recreation and parks made the announcement before heading back for Washington the past weekend. Officials did not give a specific date for the hearing but did say it would be held in Washington.

The senators held a hearing here Friday and Saturday. A total of 117 witnesses appeared before them.

Testimony included disclosure that a 385-foot redwood — 17 feet higher than any other known tree in the world — had been found in Humboldt County.

Prof. Rudolhp W. Becking of Humboldt State College said he had discovered the tree in the Redwood Creek area.

The timber industry opposed creation of a redwood park on grounds it threatened the economy of the area. Conservationists supported the park proposal.

The Save-The-Redwoods League backed plans for a 42,000-acre park in the Mill Creek area of Del Norte County. The Sierra Club said that an additional 48,000 acres should be set aside as a federal redwood preserve, especially in the Redwood Creek area.

Two bills were introduced in Congress on the parks. One supported by Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., provided for a park in the Mill Creek area. The other, introduced by Rep. Jeffery Cohelan, D-Calif., called for 90,000 acres of federal redwood parks in the two counties.

House Approves Information Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed today a bill aimed at strengthening the right of Americans to find out what their government is doing.

Its action sent to the White House the measure establishing the policy that government records should be available to the public unless specific reasons exist for secrecy. It grants federal courts the power to order disclosure of information withheld by a government agency.

The administration took no stand on the measure, known as the freedom of information or "right-to-know" bill. A number of government agencies worked behind the scenes to block it.

Its chief house sponsor, Rep. John E. Moss, praised the "excellent cooperation" from White House aides. He spoke to the House today before the final vote.

The California Democrat, who is chairman of the House Foreign Operations and Government Information subcommittee, said the measure "will not only correct inequities which have developed over the past 20 years but also will establish a governmental program to prepare for the future."

"We must remove every barrier to information about and misunderstanding of government activities consistent with our security if the American public is to be adequately equipped to fulfill the demanding role of ever more responsible citizenship," he said.

Asked earlier if he expected the President to sign the bill, Moss said, "I do indeed."

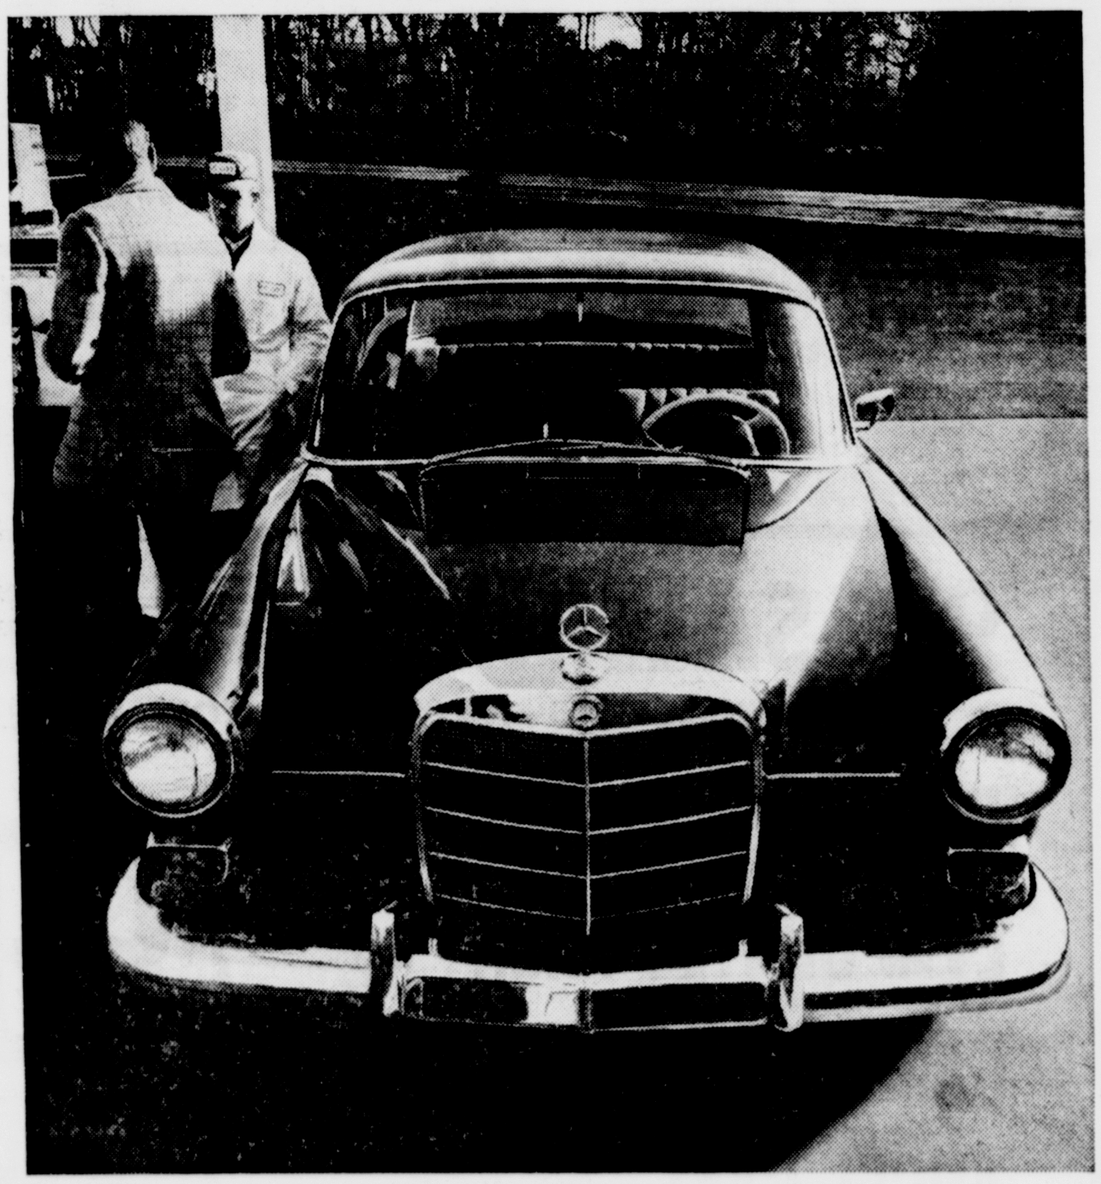
The first monument honoring George Washington was erected in Boonsboro, Md., on July 4, 1827, says National Geographic.

Tax Rate Going Up 1.3, Not 13 Cents

A decimal point disappeared from a story in Saturday's Independent-Journal, leaving the story to incorrectly report an increase in the county tax rate of 13 cents rather than 1.3 cents.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors Friday had dropped 10 cents from the structural fire tax rate for unincorporated areas, adding the difference to the county tax rate, which brought the county rate up 1.3 cents.

Why Mercedes-Benz has the nerve to charge $4280 for a car with a funny-sounding Diesel engine



Refuelling stops are rare with the Mercedes-Benz 200D—fuel consumption averages 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel, and a single tankful can take you 500 miles. For more good news, clip coupon.

The Mercedes-Benz 200D's "funny sound" means 30 miles per gallon of diesel fuel. No carburetors, distributors or spark plugs to replace. And an engine so durable you may measure its lifespan in hundreds of thousands of miles. All this economy—plus advanced features from front disc brakes to fully independent suspension—make the 200D a shrewd investment. For further proof, read on.

As over 500,000 Mercedes-Benz Diesel owners have found, this roomy $4280 sedan offers more economy—over a far longer period—than flimsy little gasoline-powered "economy" cars ever could.

The secret: A Diesel engine that Mercedes-Benz engineers devoted 30 years to perfecting.

There's no more efficient power plant known—and it cuts costs so sharply that its "funny Diesel sound" is regarded almost with affection by Diesel owners.

Not that it's deafening—as CAR LIFE magazine reports: "Once under way, things quiet down and many unsuspecting passengers are surprised to learn that they've been riding in a Diesel."

Under the hood

In a Diesel, fuel feeds through injection nozzles directly into the combustion chambers. Here, instead of spark plugs, sheer compression ignites the fuel with more than twice the force of an average V8.

It's this combustion that you hear—and its efficiency helps squeeze 30 miles from every gallon of diesel fuel.

Mercedes-Benz motor cars: from $25,785 to $4,065

You may be able to afford a Mercedes-Benz without knowing it. Below are suggested retail prices* for 8 of the 15 Mercedes-Benz models:

600 Grand Mercedes	$25,785
300SE Coupe	11,737
230SL Roadster	6,262
250S Sedan	5,861
230S Sedan	4,900
230 Sedan	4,250
200 Diesel Sedan	4,280
200 Sedan	4,065

*West Coast ports of entry, exclusive of options, state and local taxes if any.

About diesel fuel: It's cheaper than gasoline in most areas. It's obtainable at thousands of outlets, wherever diesel trucks fill up.

And it actually helps lubricate working engine parts, reducing wear so much that original Diesel piston rings have been found still serviceable after 250,000 miles.

Still more savings

Diesel economy stretches beyond fuel consumption figures. This unique engine uses no spark plugs, no points, no distributors or carburetors—so you'll never shell out money for replacements or costly tune-ups. And due to fundamentally different operation, the Diesel engine's prime parts are built far stronger.

Diesels last so long that one owner in Oregon has gone over 600,000 miles without major repairs. With decent care, your 200D will still be smoothly humming along while conventional cars are being rebuilt—or chopped up for scrap.

Ask an Alaskan

Mercedes-Benz Diesels are familiar sights in Alaska, Asia and wherever the terrain is rough. The car is rugged, yet you ride in blissful comfort over any surface.

Mercedes-Benz engineers long ago discovered the advantages of a fully independent suspension—an ingenious means of coupling fierce road grip with jolt-free riding ease.

Durability throughout

The 200D is built throughout to standards aimed at a long, trouble-free life.

Durability begins with the body shell—a taut, heavy-gauge steel "unit" structure. Ten thousand spot welds squelch squeaks and rattles. A 24-pound primer coat, plus 24 pounds of permanent undercoating, stifle the creeping menace of corrosion.

Before painting, skilled workmen shave away every burr and blemish from the body. Then the 200D receives two enamel coats—the first coat wet-sanded, the second sprayed by hand.

Staunch brakes

When you stop in the 200D, you stop smoothly and straight. Time after time, from any speed even on gravel roads.

The two major reasons: (1) 9.9-inch front disc brakes and finned, turbo-cooled rear drums that supply excess stopping power for this 1½-ton machine; and (2) four-ply, super premium-grade tires designed to "dig in" on braking as they claw the road in cornering.

Note: The 200D's brakes are power-assisted as standard equipment. There's no extra charge for a 4-speed transmission with floor shift, either.

Chairs, not seats

From inside, it's hard to detect the 200D's economical nature. You're cradled up front in separate, deeply upholstered chairs that orthopedic physicians helped design for minimum fatigue on long trips. The contoured single rear seat measures a full 5 feet wide.

Safety an obligation

Mercedes-Benz views safety as a sober obligation, not a public relations problem. Thus the 200D's body is a safety feature in itself.

The center section where you ride is rigid. Front and rear sections are designed to crumple on violent impact, absorbing shock before it reaches the passenger area.

Door locks are designed to withstand collisions from any angle. And inside, 12 danger spots are either padded, recessed, or made of pliable materials.

WILD ROBIN NOT WILD AT ALL

A wild robin, since named Fritzie, joined the family of Mr. and Mrs. George Alander of 6 Cedar Street, Kentfield, two weeks ago. The bird flew up and perched on the hand of George Alander as he sat in the yard at his home, and the bird has shown no signs of shyness or a desire to leave since then. Fritzie is shown with young Robert Alander.

Carrier Enterprise Due Hero's Welcome

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The aircraft carrier Enterprise, largest warship in the world, is scheduled for a hero's welcome Tuesday when she sails through the Golden Gate to end nine months of service off Viet Nam.

The Enterprise, first atom-powered ship to engage in combat, is arriving for the first time since her home port was switched here from Norfolk, Va., last October.

A courier plane flew today to the carrier, still several hundred miles offshore, with the first welcome—5,000 fortune cookies with the message "Welcome Home, Big E, Job Well Done."

A 125 - foot welcome banner will stream from Golden Gate Bridge Tuesday, and families of crew members will be on to hail t heir men with loudspeakers from the bridge as the ship glides underneath.

Helicopters will flit about the Enterprise, a big blimp will hover overhead and Navy attack planes will fly by as it enters San Francisco Bay.

An Army band will be aboard a Navy tug to greet the ship, and a Dixieland band will be on the Harbor Prince, a bay cruise boat, which will stew flower petals in the Enterprises' path and release red, white and blue balloons.

Bay Area merchants and civic groups have donated theater tickets, night club excursions, free dinners at local restaurants and hotels, roundtrip plane tickets to Disneyland, and even $5 worth of hot dogs. The gifts will be distributed in a drawing aboard the carrier before she docks at an Alameda Naval Air Station pier.

One night club said it will host a party for the entire 5,000-man crew.

Three hundred of the ship's flight personnel are scheduled to take off today for their home base at Lemoore Naval Air Station before the carrier docks.

Methodists Call For Solution To Viet War

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The national conference of the Methodist student movement has sharply criticized the Saigon government of Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky and called on U.S. students to seek an end to the Viet Nam war.

The conference, on a 45-8 vote Saturday, urged "all conscientious student associations in this country join in the effort to bring an end to this brutal war." The conference was composed mostly of state presidents of Methodist student units.

Flight To Canada Aids Draft Escape

WARWICK, R.I. (AP) — The Rhode Island Amvets have voiced support for efforts to halt young Americans from fleeing to Canada to escape the draft.

The veterans voted to support the stand of Ralph E. Hall, national commander, who has urged an immediate meeting between officials of the two nations to discuss "closing loopholes in Canadian law that permits U.S. citizens to flee to Canada to escape military service without fear of extradition."

Two Nuclear Carriers Scheduled By Navy

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — The Navy will begin construction next year on the first of two new nuclear aircraft carriers.

The Navy's only nuclear-powered carrier at present is the Enterprise. Vcie Adm. Paul H. Ramsey said in an interview that work will begin next year on the second nucelar carrier. The third will be started in 1971.

No More Buck-Passing On Election Foul-Ups

Election foulups experienced during this year's June primary cannot all be blamed on the new system of punch card voting.

Some confusion and delay did result from unfamiliarity with the new voting procedures.

Some 2,000 to 3,000 ballots were set aside because they did not feed properly through the computers. This led to the erroneous "final tally," which did not include the 2,000-3,000 ballots that had been put aside.

The overall counting was also delayed because of slow delivery of ballot cards from polling places to the computer center.

These are bugs that must be and no doubt will be ironed out as the county gets accustomed to punch card voting.

But the many other discrepancies were not connected with the new voting procedure.

For example, names of candidates for county central committees were not listed on some of the sample ballots. Since many voters mark their sample ballots and rely on that for the official voting, some candidates were undoubtedly placed at a disadvantage in the official voting.

Some ballots containing candidates for the Ross Valley Sanitary District went to voters outside the district, and vice versa. Those who noticed the error and complained in time may have received the correct ballots. But how many such omissions may have gone unnoticed?

Furthermore, the sample ballots were unusually late this year. Many voters did not receive their sample ballots until Friday or Saturday before the Tuesday election. This did not give voters enough time to wade through the list of candidates and measures to be sufficiently informed for the Tuesday election.

In each of the above cases, the foulups are not directly connected with the new voting system. The same errors can be and have been made under the old voting procedure.

Recall the school elections of April last year when similar complaints were registered. Sample ballots contained errors, some ballots were missent, mailings were late, and some of the notifications of polling places carried no street address.

John F. Musser, the elections supervisor at that time, blamed the county schools office for the errors. The schools office in turn blamed Musser, the county clerk's office, and the printers.

Because of this foulup and the tendency to pass the buck, the county supervisors created the new post of assistant county clerk for elections and put Musser in charge. Musser got a raise in pay and was given full responsibility.

This time, there is no passing the buck. Whether the errors resulted from clerical oversight or administrative bungling, the final responsibility rests with the man in charge of elections. It is his duty to see that printing errors are proofread and caught in time, that names are not omitted, and that the correct ballot goes to the correct district.

Elections are far too important to be jeopardized by sloppy administration or faulty preparation of ballots. Slipshod methods cannot be tolerated.

If the present assistant county clerk for elections and his staff cannot cut down on the errors, the county supervisors should get a staff that can.

Johnson Must Discuss Viet War Whether Outlook Is Good Or Bad

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson is too good a politician to stay quiet indefinitely. It's contrary to the way he operates and, as a politician, it's against his instincts.

Besides, time is running out on him.

His has been a life spent in public service and in seeking public approval, with obvious success. But he has lost some ground, as the public opinion polls indicate, and he will have to make up for it.

He has made speeches and statesments this year, plenty of them on assorted subjects, interlarding them with pep talks, particularly about the war in Viet Nam.

BUT THEY haven't been the kind to arouse a lot of people, or convince them, as the polls seem to indicate.

Always he tried to be optimistic about the war, often when there appeared to be little reason for it, and he has saturated Congress with his programs, although this year Congress is in a slow crawl.

For two years, thanks to the 1964 elections, Johnson has had big Democratic majorities in both houses of Congress to support him. But in less than five months voters will ballot on a new Congress.

Johnson needs the big majorities to sail his programs through the next two years although in a nonpresidential election year like this the party in power figures to lose some seats in Congress anyway.

THIS YEAR the Democrats probably will suffer more than the usual losses if the voters are disillusioned with the administration, and apparently they are to an increasing degree.

The polls show a diminishing public confidence in Johnson's handling of his job and the war, bad news for anyone as restless as Johnson, and as anxious for approval.

Yet, for many months, despite the great general concern about the war, he has refrained from a full-length explanation to the nation about it, even though this might have helped smother the "doves" and critics on his back.

SILENCE, HOWEVER, did have a certain value. The Vietnamese situation, despite some military progress, has been uncertain, with the danger of the government and people in Viet Nam tumbling into political chaos.

If that had happened, after Johnson presented a sunnier picture, the reaction would have been far worse than if he had kept quiet. Johnson could choose to be quiet, and he did. He won't have that choice much longer.

Although this Congress set a fabulous record in 1965, it lost its steam this year and Johnson looks like a poor prophet for predicting it would be ready to complete its work in July.

Now no one is predicting it will finish before Labor Day, at the earliest.

BUT JOHNSON will have to make campaign talks for his Democrats before the November elections. He will be a lot more persuasive if the congressional record is good. But, good or pooor, he will have to talk.

And once he starts talking about the virtues of his administration, since the war is an overriding American issue, he can no longer delay a full discussion of that, no matter how it looks by November.

If it looks good, of course, he will be way ahead.

College Not Halting Non-Credit Courses

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a recent letter to the editor the College of Marin was criticized for not providing sufficient classes for non-credit art students and for not providing sufficient classroom space in the evening for non-credit classes. Then the writer of this letter "assumed" the College has a plan to discontinue its non-credit educational program—an assumption which definitely is not true.

As Dean of the Evening College, I would like to clarify this issue.

First, the evening non-credit program is offering nine art classes this semester, more than during any previous semester. Plans for Fall Semester, 1966, include nine classes in art open to non-credit students. Students wishing to take non-credit instruction will have over 100 courses from which to choose, approximately the same number as are available now.

It is true that our classrooms are limited: the problem of scheduling classes is due primarily to the rapid growth of our evening credit program . . . a total of 6,509 enrollments in the Evening College.

The mystery is not why we have a space problem, but where we can put those who enroll. Not only are our Kentfield Campus rooms full, but the Evening College has classes spread out over Marin County; at Hamilton Air Force Base, the Adaline Kent Elementary School, Novato High School, San Rafael Community Activity Center, rented facilities at San Anselmo, and facilities owned or rented by three cooperative nurseries administered by the College.

The statement that the College has the means to correct the situation immediately is, unfortunately, not true. The College is using money raised through a tax override (not a bond) passed by the voters of Marin for both the Kentfield Campus and a second campus in Northern Marin. However, the students are coming faster than the money, which will come to us over a 10-year period.

I do want to assure the public that College of Marin is a "community college", responsive to the needs of residents of Marin County, ready to provide credit and non-credit instruction; work training programs; and community services.

Dean Evening College

Aquacade Sponsors Tell Appreciation

Editor, Independent-Journal:

There was warm applause, literally speaking, by an estimated crowd of 1,600 spectators at last Sunday's Marin Ballet Aquacade when it was publicly announced that $2,700 was earned in ticket sales alone, a new high for the show in gross receipts. Another new high was set with a Saturday and Sunday capacity attendance of over 2,250 people, marking the 21st Marin Ballet Aquacade the most successful of its 21 years.

While audience approval was a tribute to the young swimmers and dancers ranging in age from four and one-half to 19 and to the patient adults who efficiently managed its production, Sunday's audience itself deserves special applause for withstanding 90 degree heat to watch the show. Happily, they were well rewarded.

This year's record income is certain to pay in full for special equipment necessary for the successful education of the physically handicapped children at Marindale School in Terra Linda.

Ballet Aquacade, one of Marin's biggest charitable events, and the only amateur show of its kind in the entire Bay Area, was handled by the press, radio and television with depth and dignity—help that insured the show's success. Special thanks must also go to Jerome Draper for generously giving his Peacock Gap Beach Club at McNear's Beach for the use of the show.

The greatest commendation of all, however, goes to the performers in Marin Ballet Aquacade. . . . Marin can, indeed, be proud of youth of this caliber, who, for the most part, have already turned their thoughts to next year's show.

Probation Officer Entitled To Speak Up

Editor, Independent-Journal:

From today's (June 14) editorial, it would seem that you and I did not read the same letter in your Readers' columns. I do not recall that the probation officer who wrote about marijuana did so in any official capacity. Neither did he "publicly advocate . . . disregard of the law."

If his professional experience has convinced him that some of our laws are bad, shouldn't he point this out? A case for altering legislation can hardly be made without calling attention to existing laws.

It is untrue that his statements breed contempt for existing laws against narcotics. It is not the criticism, but the law itself that breeds contempt. The man you accuse of irresponsibility is merely pointing this out to the final lawmakers — us — requesting that we look at the "real" situation. We have a serious problem on our hands and we just cannot outlaw 1966! You have, instead of repudiating his contentions, declared him out of order.

You state, "If the personal views of . . . any . . . officer connected with law enforcement are such that he cannot in good conscience enforce (them) . . . he should get out of that position. How can such a person be expected to influence others to respect the laws? Any person who takes so blind a view of our laws is better equipped to live in a totalitarian state than this one. Perhaps the law-abiding disenter is "influencing" in the only reliable way—By example!

You have now added to his integrity by putting his job on the line.

A government like ours should not require martyrs to achieve legislative change.

Personal Data File On Every Individual?

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — A special White House task force is recommending the creation of a federal data center which eventually could have a comprehensive file on every man, woman and child in the country.

Now under study in inner administration circles, the still-secret report advocates the gradual transfer of all governmental records and statistics to magnetic computer tape, which would be turned over to a newly created agency that would function as a general data center.

THE COMPUTERIZED information would be available, at the push of a button, to a wide range of government authorities.

Estimated cost of the proposed center (which would have to be approved by Congress before becoming a reality) is $2 million annually the first few years; around $12 million when in full operation.

ALTHOUGH STILL under wraps, the task force's report already has triggered a congressional inquiry. Representative Cornelius Gallagher, D-N.J., head of a Government Operations subcommittee on invasion of privacy, is preparing to hold hearings on the all-inclusive data center scheme.

Gallagher particularly wants to ascertain what information will be fed into the center, whether it will include confidential material on private citizens, who will have access to these records, and who will control them.

Slated to be called as witnesses are Professor Kaysen and other members of his group.

Preliminary probing by Representative Gallagher's subcommittee indicates the government already is compiling cradle-to-grave records on tens of millions of citizens.

INCLUDED IN these records is information on schooling, military service, tax returns, Social Security, census data, medical, credit and criminal reports.

"Comprehensive information of this kind, centralized in one agency," says Gallagher, "could constitute a highly dangerous dossier bank. Such an agency would be a distinct departure from our American tradition."

Subcommittee investigators have ascertained that the task force's report states that a vast accumulation of government records already is on computer tape and could be turned over to the proposed general data center immediately. Listed as among these available files are:

Internal Revenue Service — 74.2 million personal and corporate tax returns.

Defense Department—14 million "life histories" of civilians compiled in the course of security investigations.

Civil Service Commission—8 million reports on individuals investigated for government jobs.

FBI — 175.3 million sets of fingerprints, comprehensive records on thousands of Communist Party members, sympathizers and other radical elements, Klansmen and other rightists.

The vast files of the Social Security Administration, Census Bureau, Labor and Agriculture Departments, Office of Education.

LITTLE-NOTICED testimony before Representative Gallagher's subcommittee last year revealed that, even without a general data center, government files with highly private information are far from inviolate.

For example: By law, tax returns and military service records cannot be disclosed without the individual's permission. But they are.

Government files containing the most intimate information, the investigators learned, are freely passed around among agencies.

SACRAMENTO SCENE

Bagley, Other GOP Moderates Stand Ready To Back Reagan

By EDWIN S. CAPPS

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — There are indications the much talked about and long hoped for unity in the Republican party may come into being in the campaign of Ronald Reagan for governor.

A significant development came with an announcement by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, that he was ready and willing to go to work for Reagan. Bagley, who had been one of George Christopher's most vocal supporters in the primary campaign, said in effect that all he needs is to be asked by Reagan to go to work.

BAGLEY ALWAYS has been identified with the more liberal wing of the Republican party. He was on the Rockefeller delegation to the 1964 GOP convention in San Francisco.

Following the nomination of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, Bagley and several other Republican legislators offered their support to Goldwater and offered to work for him in the campaign but their letters never were answered and they stayed out of it.

IT'S NOT LIKELY the Reagan campaign will commit the same oversight.

Bagley said he's only speaking for himself but felt all of the other Republican legislators from Northern California, generally considered the moderates, also would go to work in the Reagan campaign if they're asked.

"It's now just a matter of communication," the assemblyman said.

The entry of Bagley and the more liberal Republican legislators into the Reagan campaign would make it more difficult for the Democrats to pursue their expected course of pinning the ultra-conservative right wing label on Reagan's efforts.

IT HAD BEEN expected some of the GOP assemblymen might hesitate to become too involved in the campaign for fear of being tarred with the same right wing brush. However, as Bagley points out, it will be pretty hard to attempt to identify the likes of him as an ultra-conservative.

Bagley said he was not putting any conditions on his joining the Reagan team. He said he hoped his opinions would be respected although they might not be accepted.

HOW MANY OF the Christopher camp will follow Bagley's lead is not certain. But the group in the State Assembly have a pretty good coverage of Northern California. That would include Assemblyman John G. Veneman, R-Modesto; Alan G. Pattee, R-Salinas; and George Milias, R-Gilroy.

Another close member of that team is Assemblyman Houston I. Flournoy, R-Claremont, who naturally will be in the campaign because he won the GOP nomination for the office of state controller.

Veneman, who has expressed sentiments similar to Bagley, pointed out that the entire Republican slate is one that all Republicans can support.

FOLLOWING THE June 7 primary, most observers have felt the key to a win by either Reagan or Gov. Edmund G. Brown would be the degree of unity gained in party circles after the big primary fight. On the Democratic side, Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, a master at running campaigns in Los Angeles county, has offered his full support for Brown.

But Mayor Samuel Yorty of Los Angeles, who surprised most everyone with the impressive vote he piled up against Brown, has been silent as to whether he'll support Brown. Yorty supported Richard M. Nixon against Brown four years ago.

If Marin Is Travelling Toward New Math, Where Is Westport?

Question: If a passenger train is traveling at the rate of 66 miles an hour and there are only three sidings, each 200 yards long, in the next 100 miles, where is the freight train?

Answer: Both trains will reach Westport at the same time.

Remember those little gems? That was the old math. There are some of us still around who can remember the Old Math, you know.

It used to be, that under the Old Math, you could answer any question either with "both trains will reach Westport at the same time" or "three bushels."

The answer to the problem above might be "three bushels," but I'm a little rusty and just guessed. If the above answer is wrong, there will probably be letters, but those of you who write in will be missing the point.

The point of all this is that I want to ask a very pointed question.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED to the Old Math? What, for that matter, has become of the bushel? In this day and age you don't hear anyone talking about the bushel, and I am a little sad about it.

But to get back to the first question, the answer of course, is New Math.

Everyone knows that some time back—it was during Eisenhower's second term if you want to make a political issue out of it—the New Math started creeping slowly, on all fours, into the classroom.

And a good place for it, you say, and I would be the first to agree. But friend, that was several years ago. New Math has gotten loose.

Westport and the two trains may soon go the way of the bushel. Just don't come crying around to me in a few years, claiming you weren't forewarned.

NEW MATH HAS already invaded county finances. We are still trying to determine the extent of the invasion. (I said "we" there just to make you think there are more than one of us working on it.)

With the county's version of New Math, the guy who makes a loan also has to pay the interest. This was decided by supervisors during budget hearings just last week. A flood control zone has borrowed general fund money, but the interest will be paid by the taxpayers. He's the fellow who put up the money in the first place.

UNDER THE math of grandfather's day, the fellow borrowing the money had to put up the interest. Most banks, I understand, still stick to this old fashioned requirement.

Under new math, the county also has discovered a way to raise money twice for the same project. For instance, $195,000 has been collected over the past two years from taxpayers for the county's share of cost in improving the airport.

Last week, supervisors considered a plan to put this into the general fund in an effort to hold down the budget and sell bonds to finance the airport. An earlier suggestion for a retirement fund loan was ruled out of bounds.

Unfortunately, bond sales are under the Old Math, and the taxpayer would have to put up the interest.

ONE WAY of explaining this is that taxpayers are being asked to pay interest on money they have already put up, which is about the same thing they are being asked to do on that flood control loan.

Another way of saying it is that bond interest and principle will be required for several years to cut $195,000 out of the budget for one year.

Another way of saying it is that never again will both trains reach Westport at the same time.

Proud Parents Of Graduates Discover Untapped Creativity

WASHINGTON — A lot of proud parents are showing up this month at university commencement exercises throughout the land. I was sitting next to a beaming couple last week and during the ceremonies I struck up a conversation.

"You must be very happy today," I said to the father.

"Oh, I am. Martha and I have waited all our lives for this moment when Peter would graduate from college."

"Which one up there is Peter?"

"He's not there," the father replied. "He walked out when Secretary McNamara started to make the commencement speech."

"That's a shame," I said. "I guess you and your wife are pretty upset."

"Oh, no. He told us he originally planned to lie down across the podium, so we're very grateful he decided on non-violent protest."

"I'LL BET YOU scrimped and saved to put Peter through college."

"Actually, the tuition wasn't too bad. We had set funds aside for that. But it was pretty hard to get up the bail money every time Peter got arrested. We managed though except for the time he burned his draft card."

"He had to stay in jail for that one?"

"I'm afraid so. It wasn't just burning his draft card that got the administration angry — Peter accidentally burned down the gym with it."

"It must have played heck with the basketball schedule," I said.

"IT DID. But when Peter got out he started a freedom committee to burn down gymnasiums, and about a fourth of the school signed up."

"What did Peter major in while he was in college?"

"He started out majoring in Modern Anarchy, but he found it was too restrictive, so he took a straight liberal arts course with a minor in Nietzsche. Martha wanted him to study law, but Peter said, 'There are no laws.' And that was the end of it."

"Peter sounds like he's got a mind of his own."

"I think you could say that. He's the only one in his class who stopped two troop trains going in opposite directions at the same time on the Atchison, Topeka, and the Santa Fe."

"You have to have convictions to do that," I said.

"You also have to have long legs," the father said. "Peter then walked from Anchorage to Nome, Alaska, because he claimed the Alaskans wouldn't let the Eskimos vote. And he also sat in Gov. Romney's office for two nights as a protest against capital punishment."

"BUT MICHIGAN doesn't have capital punishment."

"That's what Gov. Romney kept telling him."

"It must have been an interesting four years for you."

"I guess you could say that —particularly during school vacations when Peter found it hard to get LSD."

"Now that Peter's finished college, what does he plan to do?" I asked.

"He's applied for training jobs with IBM, Time-Life Inc., and the Ford Motor Co. He figures there's a much better future with a large corporation than trying to start on your own."

San Rafael Fire Codes Under Study

The San Rafael City Council tonight will consider whether building codes are strict enough in light of the $48,800 fire Monday in the Terra Linda home of James Robert Robertson.

Councilman Harry Barbier asked that this item, considering building codes in regard to the Eichler Homes, be put on the agenda for the meeting at 8 p.m. at the city hall. There have been several serious fires in the homes.

The council will again consider an exclusive contract with Marin Sanitary Service for garbage collection in the city. The council asked that the company have a complete contract ready for Monday night's meeting.

The council will also consider an ordinance annexing the Northgate Shopping Center triangle between Highway 101 and the Emporium.

The possibility of a hotel-motel tax will be before the council again. At the last session the council asked for a legal determination on whether this revenue could be used by the chamber of commerce to advertise the city. The city attorney has since ruled that the revenue could not be used this way.

California Lawmakers Heading For Decisions

SACRAMENTO (AP)—California lawmakers headed today for decisions on major issues that have been pending for months, as the lengthy 1966 legislative session finally closed in on adjournment.

The first important decision was expected when the informal two-house conference committee wrestling with the constitutional revision problem was scheduled to give its opinion on the latest compromise proposed.

Both houses were ready to take key votes later in the day on the record budget for the year starting July 1, and the new accounting system Gov. Brown says will balance it without a tax boost.

Irate Husband Points A Finger At Pill-Gulping Nervous Wives

DEAR HELEN:

Why is it always the wives who write in and complain about husbands? The way they talk, they're all on nerve pills because of their low-life husbands, the dogs.

It should be men who do the complaining. We have to come home from work to a house that is in an uproar, and hear the poor little woman whine about how hard she has to work, how we mistreat her, etc.

I'd suggest these dames stop taking pills of all sorts and live up to their standards as wife and mother. Then maybe their nerves won't get the best of them.

As for being treated like a dog, well some dogs have better homes than some husbands.

—SAD DOG

DEAR DOG:

It isn't always the wives who do the complaining, but I'll admit they keen loudest and longest, and about five times as often . . . so they get fewer ulcers.

Isn't it amazing how just living together can turn two perfectly nice people into "a low-life dog" married to a "whining pill-gulper"?

Know why? Because of that very human urge to get even. If you slight your wife, she "pays you back" by showing you how rough her life is—in spades! The more she whines—well, if that's her game, you'll give her something to yap about.

Soon you're trying to see who can hurt who the most, and two nice people have become a couple of screaming meanies. No matter what one says at this point, the other twists it into a "dirty slam" and evens the score with meaner words or actions. Communication? It went thataway.

Really, it's a childish way to act — and that's why I don't waste crocodile tears on self-pitying husbands or wives.

If your lives are totally impossible together you should separate, but in at least three-fourths of the cases what all mates need is compromise—the realization that if they insist on winning every battle, they lose the marriage.

End of lecture. I got a little yappy there, didn't I?—H.

DEAR HELEN:

You're probably tired of hearing pros and cons of peace and war, but after reading the letters from the peace-criers, I just to blow off steam.

The people of the United States may be "misinformed" but at least we love our country and our freedom enough to fight for it. It's true that innocent people are being killed, some of them our husbands and sons, but it's a small price to pay for our children's and grandchildren's freedom.

My husband has been in Viet Nam for the past nine months and the children and I miss him terribly, but we are all so very proud of him and the job he is doing. He once wrote that "just once, every man should have the experience of fighting for his country." I believe with all my heart in what he is doing and pray daily for his safe return.

I know I'm a small voice in this land of ours, but perhaps I speak for most of us. If these nuts would try closing their mouths and start helping the guys who are already in Viet Nam, by standing behind them, this war would be over that much sooner and our men could be home with their families.

—SERVICE WIFE

DEAR HELEN:

There is a dear elderly lady living on a farm in Maryland. She had her 100th birthday on May 13. She hasn't been able to get around so well these last few years after a bad fall broke her hip. I am sure she would be delighted to receive cards and letters from your readers. Her address: Mrs. Robert Butler, Rt. 1, Box 201, Denton, Md., 21629.—H.N.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

HEART FACTORS

Specialists Always On Alert For Disease Specific To Eyes

(Sixth in a series of articles dealing with risk factors in heart disease, provided by the Marin County Heart Assn., as a public education service.)

Man's eyes have been called the window to his soul.

Somewhat less romantically, but in a much more practical sense, they might better be labeled the window to his heart.

And this is why — if you have wondered—your physician looks long and carefully into your eyes with a brightly lighted magnifying scope during the course of a routine heart examination.

Whether he is a heart specialist or a general practitioner, he will, of course, be on the alert for signs of disease specific to the eyes, but also he will be concerned with the condition of your blood vessels, as a clue to the state of your heart and its vascular system.

It happens that the blood vessels at the back of the eye are the only ones in the body that are normally exposed to view. If the tell-tale signs of arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) are present there, then vessels elsewhere in the body are likely to be similarly affected.

SOME OF THE OTHER things your physician does during his examination of the status of your cardiovascular system may seem mysterious — or even somewhat silly. There is a very good reason for every one of them.

He may, for instance, ask you a great number of questions about your own background, habits and complaints, and even about long-dead relatives — particularly if he has not seen you previously or for a long time.

An answer to a question about yourself which may seem completely inconsequential could well tip off an intuitive doctor to an unsuspected condition which further checks will reveal.

And your relatives are important because inheritance is unquestionably involved in the tendency toward many types of heart disease.

Your doctor will, of course, take your pulse. The rhythm of that pulse, drumming lightly against his sensitive and knowing fingertips, can tell him much about the health of your heart.

He will learn even more through the use of that familiar trade mark of his profession, the stethoscope; he can hear even the tiny sounds made by the opening and closing of the heart's valves.

Abnormal sounds, differences in sound intensity, changes in rhythm and pitch — all these spell out for him conditions that call for further investigation.

HE WILL LEARN still more about your heart by taking your blood pressure, on that intriguing gadget, with its cloth cuff and bulb and calibrated column. The reading he gets, as you will remember, comes in a sort of fraction, such as 140/85.

The first figure is the "systolic" pressure, taken at the moment your heart contracts to pump blood out into the arterial system and throughout the body.

The second is the "diastolic" pressure, taken when your heart is between beats and while the chambers are refilling with blood preparatory to another stroke.

Your doctor may not tell you your exact blood pressure readings; he may report only that your pressure is high, or — most likely — normal.

He has good reason for not being more exact: figures can be frightening and misleading unless they are understood in proper context. For instance, a reading that is "low" for you may be quite normal or even "high" for your wife, your child or your fellow worker.

YOUR PHYSICIAN may wish to check your beating heart under the fluoroscope, a special type of X-ray, by means of which he can watch the organ in action, studying its size, its shape, its position and the way it contracts.

And he may wish to take an electrocardiogram, a recording of the minute electrical charges that trigger the beats of your heart. Such a reading — familiarly known as an EKG — can often show, in the form of the tracings, if your heart has suffered damage from an attack.

But, neither an EKG reading nor any other test means necessarily that you are in trouble. Mostly they are simply precautionary.

You can take heart from the evidence that periodic examinations are as good a guard as there is against heart disease.

The collections for fall and winter emphasize the simplest of silhouettes for daytime dresses — collarless or small collar, sleeveless or tiny sleeves, and fabric gliding over the body, the waistline unmarked. Zippered Closings

For years, suit jackets have been buttoned. Then the industrial zipper moved in as a closing for sportswear. Now, high fashion has turned the conventional zipper into front closings for suit tops. Several such closings were used by designer Oscar de la Renta.

Actor-Comedian Ed Wynn Succumbs To Cancer At 79

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "During his last three months, he wouldn't let his three young granddaughters come to see him. His appearance had changed, and he couldn't talk. He wanted them to remember him as the roly-poly funnyman."

This was a son's remembrance of Ed Wynn, the great comedian-actor who died in his sleep yesterday at 79, a victim of cancer.

The son, actor Keenan Wynn, said his father had been in failing health for a year, although he remained active until a few months ago. Earlier this year, he appeared on Red Skelton's television show, made a candy commercial and played a role in Walt Disney's "The Gnomobile."

ED WYNN — SHOW BUSINESS LEADER
As he was in person and as the "Perfect Fool"

DID 11 SHOWS

"In March dad went to Washington for the American Parkinsen's Disease Assn., his favorite charity," Keenan said. "He did 11 shows in two days. When he came home from that trip, he began to show the results of the cancer."

The elder Wynn had been operated on for a tumor in his neck, and the tumor was found to be malignant. He spent the last three months in his Wilshire Boulevard apartment. He was visited there Saturday night by Keenan and his wife and Keenan's sons, Tracy and Ned.

DODGER FAN

"Dad had the Dodger game going on the radio," said Keenan, "and he was excited because his boy, Sandy Koufax, brought in another victory. He couldn't talk, but he held up his fingers indicating the score, 3 to 1."

He died at 7:45 the next morning.

Ed Wynn's 64 years as an entertainer brought him triumphs in every medium of show business. For half a century he evoked the laughter of millions as "the perfect fool." Then, when it seemed the vogue had passed him by, he turned serious and became a fine character actor.

Among his roles: Uncle Samson in "Marjorie Morningstar;" the crotchety dentist in "The Diary of Anne Frank" — for which he was nominated for an academy award — the blind man in "The Greatest Story Ever Told."

Wynn ran away from his Philadelphia home at 16 to join a traveling repertoire company. His father, a hat manufacturer, so objected to his son's choice of profession that he insisted on a name change to avoid family disgrace. Born Edwin Leopold, the young performer fashioned his billing from his first name.

As Ed Wynn, he soon starred in vaudeville and moved easily into Broadway shows, making his debut in the Ziegfeld Follies of 1914. He wrote, directed and produced such Broadway hits as "Ed Wynn Carnival," "The Perfect Fool" —which became his sobriquet thereafter — "Iaugh Parade" and "Hooray for What."

Wynn's first impact on a mass audience came when he starred on radio as The Fire Chief. His silly giggle, falsetto voice and outrageous way with a pun made him a national favorite. He was also one of the early stars of television, his program being the first to originate in Hollywood and be transmitted to the East.

Keenan urged his father to try dramatics when it appeared that his comedic talents were no longer in demand. He took a role in a movie, "The Great Man."

"The results were beyond my wildest dreams," Ed Wynn said later. "I found myself being hailed by the critics as a dramatic find. I was also in demand as a comedian, earning as much money as a guest star on television as I had ever been given."

Nondenominational funeral services will be held Thursday at Forest Lawn Memorial Park. The body was cremated in accordance with Wynn's wishes. His will, written a month ago, left most of his estate to Keenan.

Wynn, who was married three times, is survived by Keenan and Keenan's five children, Hilda, Edwina, Emily, Tracy and Ned.

German Police Seek Sex Killer

LUDWIGSHAFEN, Germany (AP) — Police in three West German states have teamed up to try to track down a sex maniac believed to have killed four women hitchhikers, including two Americans.

The nude body of the latest victim, identified as Eleanor Mae Friday, a student from Escondido, Calif. was recovered from the Rhine River last week. There were strangulation marks about her neck.

Other similar murder victims were Ann Peterson, 22, of Cleveland, Ohio, whose partly clad body was found south of here 20 months ago; Gerda Oed, 27, whose strangled nude body was recovered from the Rhine 20 miles north of here May 20; and Hedwig Saschnw, 38, a nurse found dead north of Munich on May 23.

Dominican Leader Plans For Austerity

JARABOCOA, Dominican Republic (AP) — President-elect Joaquin Balaguer hopes to cure the Dominican Republic's ailing economy by reducing the armed forces and cutting deadwood out of overstaffed government agencies.

Resting from the election campaign at the home of a friend in the highlands 80 miles north of Santo Domingo, Balagur said in an interview: "It will require heroic austerity measures and they will be taken."

Views In LSD: Dangerous; Perceptive

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A weeklong conference on the controversial hallucination -producing drug LSD ended Saturday with the airing of widely differing views on the question.

Said Dr. William Frosch, professor of psychiatry at New York University School of Medicine:

"It (LSD) is dangerous with or without supervision." And of the 150 persons who came to Bellevue Hospital last year for treatment of the after-effects of LSD use, "their reactions were of acute panic and terror. They were unable to get back to their original selves. . ."

But Dr. Rolf Von Eckartsberg, assistant professor of psychology at Duquesne University, said, after stating that he had taken the drug:

"LSD has given me a quality and perceptiveness that has opened up new dimensions with no detrimental effects."

Despite the divergent views, legislatures were urged not to enact laws that would hamper research.

Labor Union Heads Go Back To School

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Labor union leaders are going to college this summer to learn better how to match wits with management in this era of automation.

The AFL-CIO announced during the weekend a program of courses, developed jointly with the University of Wisconsin and beginning July 18. The courses are directed at business agents and education and research personnel in 128 unions and are aimed at teaching them how to deal with sophisticated new machinery and production methods during contract negotiations.

CONCERT REVIEW

Warfield's Voice Has Great Power

By MAYBELLE SPECKMANN

Bass-baritone William Warfield opened the 32nd Marin Music Chest season yesterday afternoon at Forest Meadows in San Rafael with a program designed to appeal both to connoisseurs of lieder and popular taste.

He has a maginficent voice of great power that is nevertheless agile and smoothly controlled through a wide range of dynamics. To us it was most appealing in the bass register.

He appeared to be one of those artists who can become so emotionally involved in the content of the lyrics of a song, as well as its musical expression, that they are almost oblivious of an audience, yet without this resulting in lack of communication. This was especially true in the German group of five Schubert lieder, the four English songs of Purcell, and the four French songs of Faure.

Warfield's dramatic skill was revealed in the latter part of the program, especially in the Madamina catalogue aria from Mozart's opera "Don Giovanni."

Most unusual number on the program was "Saetas Profanas" by John Carter, in which a great deal of emotional reaction by the composer to a Spanish religious parade is expressed entirely through vocalizing without words. Also unusual was a contemporary spirited "Halleluiah" in a setting of Psalm 66 by Yehudi Wyner.

But most popular with the good sized audience were the concluding Hall Johnson arrangements of four less familiar spirituals, "Give Me Jesus," "Let's Have a Union," "Heaven is One Beautiful Place," and "My God Is So High."

Fair Flower Program Scheduled On July 2

Fair flower arrangments for the Marin Art and Garden Fair for junior division, class eight, will be received from 8 to 1:30 a.m. July 2.

The fair premium book incorrectly listed the date as July 3. Friday is the deadline for getting entry forms.

Eight Marinites In Drama Fete

Eight Marinites will have acting roles in the California Shakespeare Festival at the University of Santa Clara July 20 through August 20.

The festival includes production of "Hamlet" and "Taming of the Shrew," and the plays will be shown nightly Wednesday through Sunday.

Most Voters Happy With IBM Ballots

By RICHARD LYTTLE

The majority of Marin voters were satisfied with the punch card voting system tested June 7.

That is the conclusion of the county administrator's office, and administrator Alan Bruce has recommended that Marin use the Votomatic system for future elections.

Administrative analyst John L. Gibb, in a four-page report to supervisors, today declared there were complaints, but favorable comment outweighed them.

"Unfavorable block or group" reactions came from a polling place at 5 Melrose Avenue, Mill Valley, from the city of Sausalito. Gibb did not report what prompted these objections.

He concluded that instructions written for precinct workers for the International Business Machine Votomatic devices were sometimes "unclear and Ambiguous."

He also found that the write-in counting proceedure is complicated, but looked on this as an obstacle that can be overcome.

He found that some voters had difficulty placing the stylus between the rods of the voting books, that there were 50 cases of broken styluses, that those who inserted the voting card with one hand (instead of two as recommended), had difficulty, and that some were confused by the number printed on the voting masks that were between the book and the card.

Gibb said these difficulties have been pointed out to IBM and the county has urged the return to an earlier Votomatic design, which had been changed to allow re-use of page sleeves in the book .

Bissest difficulty, according to Gibb, was the paper used in the punch cards. It had long fibres which caused hanging chips on the cards after they were punched and caused an imperfect tear where the voter's stub was removed. The imperfect cards could not be fed through the reader in the data processing center. Even the election clerks who transferred absentee pallots to punch cards had difficulty making cards the machine would accept.

This was not discovered until the night of the election. It delayed the start of the count. Almost 2,000 imperfect cards from precincts delayed the final results of the election until late Thursday.

Gibb said the county cost for the primary was $66,637, as opposed to an estimate of $99,000 using the old paper ballot system.

His report will be considered by supervisors at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow. If the board decides to continue use of Votomatic, the county can buy the devices for $312,000, to be paid over five year.

Supervisors To Talk Again About Airport

Marin County supervisors tomorrow will again discuss airport financing and again be asked to apply for funds from the Federal Aviation Agency.

The board meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Civic Center. The airport discussion is scheduled for 11:15 a.m.

Reason for resubmitting the application is that the county will miss the June 30 deadline for assuring completion of right of way negotiations, assistant public works director Arthur J. Knutson explained. It means that the federal grant, if approved, will be next fiscal year. Knutson said there was little hope of approval this year.

Supervisors will also debate again the source of $260,000 needed for the county's share of the job. Two-year funding had put $195,000 in a special aviation fund, but County Administrator Alan Bruce has recommended other uses for this money.

Supervisors will receive a recommendation for identical contracts to four asphalt companies which submitted virtually identical bids to the county. The bids have been referred to both the United States and California attorneys general.

A hearing will be held at 2:45 p.m. on the master plan for the 120-acre Oakwood Valley next to Marincello.

Shortly after 3 p.m., supervisors are to consider Borah Lawrence's cluster housing proposal on North San Pedro Road south of Gallinas Village.

TERRA LINDA BRUSHOFF

Saturday was Volunteer Day in Terra Linda, when the Recreation Center received a new paint job from volunteers among the people who use it. Among them were Ralph Sewell (left), 16, a student at Terra Linda High School, and Austin Gibbon, one of the recreation directors.

Teamster From Tam Valley Is Booked In Girl's Death

An eight-year-old San Francisco girl was crushed to death on the sidewalk near her San Francisco home Saturday by a pickup truck driven by a teamster from Tamalpais Valley.

The teamster, John J. Purdy, 39, of 341 Jean Street, was released on $1,210 bail after being booked on suspicion of felony manslaughter, felony drunken driving and speeding.

Killed was Cynthia Dere, who was on her way to graduation ceremonies at the Chinese School at St. Francis of Assisi Church, where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kai Dere, were waiting for her to appear in the choir.

San Francisco Police Officer Elmer Schenck said Purdy's truck ran 75 feet down the sidewalk before hitting the child at Stockton and Lombard streets and crushing her against a garage door.

Purdy was to appear today in San Francisco Municipal Court on the speeding charge. No date has been set for hearings on the felony charges pending further investigation by the district attorney's office.

West Marin School Top Graduates Picked

Katherine Haley and Dennis Rodoni were named the outstanding graduating boy and girl, respectively, at graduation ceremonies of West Marin Elementary School Friday.

Tamara Patterson and Ronald Petroni were presented the sportsmanship award for girls and boys in the graduating class of 34.

A Short-Tempered Board Strays Some From Budget

A short-tempered county board of supervisors had sharp words this morning over matters that sometimes ranged far from the budgets on which they were holding hearings.

The board was particularly upset over criticism from County Auditor - Controller Michael Mitchell, who told the Independent-Journal that supervisors were giving a "free ride" to taxpayers in unincorporated areas by reducing the structural fire tax.

There was also an argument, gaveled to silence eventually by Chairman Byron W. Leydecker, on criticism of the courts.

Supervisor Peter H. Behr, in discussing the sheriff's department budget, wished the courts would back up the sheriff in not sending known offenders back to their areas of residence on bail.

"Even though Mr. Behr is out of order, I agree with him," Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen said.

Supervisor Thomas T. Storer, an attorney as is Behr, disagreed and that as an "officer of the court," he knew that setting of high bail was not to be used as a punishment.

"I would like to discuss this at length at any time," Kettenhofen said, but he did not get the chance.

The structural fire tax issue was revived by Mrs. Anne West of San Anselmo, who appeared to protest inequities she said existed in fire, sheriff and planning budgets, because city taxpayers must carry the load for services given mostly unincorporated area residents.

"The whole thing has been grossly oversimplified, partly by our auditor-controller and partly by others," Behr said.

"It's extremely complicated," Leydecker said.

Behr said that inequity, if it exists, would involve only about five per cent of the county budget. Budget before the board for fiscal 1967 totals $25.9 million.

Behr also said that Mitchell is not responsible for decisions by the board, but does have the right to speak out on them.

Mitchell spoke of new state legislation calling for review by county auditors of double taxation possibilities.

"I do feel there is double taxation here and we can't sweep it under the rug," Mitchell said.

Kettenhofen frowned at Mitchell and said pointedly, "I think what it boils down to is deciding how many Indians there are."

also had a 13-pup litter on Nov. 5.

how many indians there are."

Supervisors adopted the sheriff's budget with a few minor changes.

Supervisor William A. Gnoss wondered why medical bills for prisoners would come to $2,600.

Sheriff Louis P. Montanous said there is an increasing number of one-year sentences. "We are in the basement of the county courthouse," he said. "It is no place to keep a man for a year."

The board also approved the budget for the county clerk with few changes, but deferred action on the elections department.

FIREMEN HEROES PULL IRON BARS, FREE BOY

Clay Fuller, who has the curiosity of most 2-year-old boys, was exploring his apartment house deck at 138 Tunstead Avenue, San Anselmo, yesterday.

Just to see what was on the other side, he poked his head through the iron bars of a bannister. Then he found he had just completed a one-way maneuver. His head would not budge.

Clay did what any young adventurer would do. He bawled. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Fuller, heard him and called for help.

San Anselmo firemen, with strength expected of a young boy's heroes, pulled the bars apart with their bare hands, thus adding another name to the list of young boys who can't wait till they grow up and can be firemen.

Dog Delivers Baker's Dozen

But 13 doesn't seem to bother the Jensens' great Danes one bit. They thrive on it.

Mrs. Jerry Jensen, 350 Oak Avenue, San Anselmo, has a great dane named Brandy. Brandy presented Mrs. Jensen with 13 puppies Friday.

A 13-pup litter is unusual in itself but the story doesn't stop there. Brandy's mother, Bonella Von Kochertal, started what may be a trend last year. She

Hearing Continued

The Marin County Planning Commission today continued its discussion of the Novato Area General Plan until July 11 after stumbling on the question of whether houses should be allowed on a ridge overlooking highway 101.

Real Estate Broker Sued For Divorce

Marin County real estate broker William A. Timmer, 47, has been sued for divorce in Marin Superior Court by his 41-year-old wife, Louise, who alleges cruelty.

The Timmers married at Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 20, 1962 and separated June 1 this year. They have no children by this marriage.

Mrs. Timmer has asked for an injunction to prevent her husband, who operates a real estate business from 901 B Street, San Rafael, from disposing of what she considers communal property. She is employed as a medical secretary in San Francisco.

Timmer has three children from a previous marriage, and his wife, one child. He will appear in court June 29 at 2 p.m. to show cause why he should not pay temporary alimony.

Judge Stays Hearing On Tiburon Pub

An Alcoholic Beverage Control hearing on the liquor license of Eric Hodgman's noisy Prince Charlie Inn of Tiburon was stopped this morning on orders of a San Francisco judge.

Superior Court Judge Gerald S. Levin issued a writ staying the hearing pending further instructions. State Counsel Donald L. Tipton said the Department of Alcoholic Beverage Control would appear before Judge Levin June 28 to ask to have the jurisdiction returned to the department.

"There will be a hearing here within 30 days," Tipton said.

The state is investigating complaints that Hodgman's pub on Tiburon Boulevard is operating in violation of state liquor laws.

About 25 residents showed up for the scheduled hearing at Del Mar School, Tiburon, this morning.

Three Injured When Boats Collide Near Angel Island

Two Coast Guard officers and their two companions were injured while on a boatmen's holiday when their sailboat collided with a tugboat east of Angel Island at 1:25 p.m. yesterday.

The Coast Guard reported that a 24-foot sailboat owned and operated by Lt. Cmdr. Arthur P. Roberts of San Francisco collided with the tugboat Haden.

Roberts and his three passengers, Lt. Robert Melsheimer of Treasure Island, and Patricia Watson and Julie Iverson, both of San Francisco, were injured in the collision, the Coast Guard reported.

The Coast Guard sent two boats and a helicopter to the scene. One Coast Guard boat took the injured to Corinthian Yacht Club harbor, in Tiburon, at 1:30 p.m. The helicopter then flew Miss Watson, who suffered back injuries, to San Francisco. She was reported in good condition today at U.S. Public Health Service Hospital.

The three other injured persons were taken by ambulance to Marin General Hospital. Roberts, who suffered a fractured left arm, was reported in good condition today. Miss Iverson, who suffered multiple bruises and scrapes, pelvic and chest injuries, was also reported in good condition.

Melsheimer, who suffered an injured left ankle, was treated and sent home.

Marin Man Lose Leg On Fire Run

Herman M. Barber of Mill Valley, a 17-year veteran with the San Francisco Fire Department, lost his right leg in an accident Saturday.

San Francisco firemen were responding to a grass fire call. Barber was on the running board of the fire truck, held by a safety strap.

At San Jose and Geneva avenues, tiller man Paul Paulson swung to miss cars in heavy traffic as the truck turned the corner. The left rear fender of the truck caught a metal traffic light pole and sheered it off. Barber's leg was pinned between the truck and the severed pole. It was crushed.

Barber, 38, lives at 134 Magee Avenue. He was reported in good condition today at San Francisco General Hospital.

Barber told other firemen he saw the truck would hit the pole but did not have time to unbuckle his safety strap.

Search On For Missing Plane

The Air Force sent out 25 planes today in the third day of searching for a missing twin-engine utility plane with two military fliers aboard.

A spokesman at Hamilton Air Force Base said no trace had been found of the aircraft, piloted by Air Force Maj. Lawrence E. Smith, 34, of Campbell, and co-pilot Capt. Donald K. McCormick, 32, of San Jose.

The plane was declared missing Friday night on a flight from Moffett Field to Nellis Air Force Base near Las Vegas. The search has concentrated on the mountainous area between Northern California and Nevada.

Here's Best-Played Hand Among 1,400 In Italian Tournament

During the world championships, played last month in Italy, five teams competed.

Each played a match of 140 hands against each of the other four teams.

Altogether, 1,400 hands were played, and the hand shown today is my nomination for the best-played hand of the entire tournament.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

Bob Hamman, at 29 the youngest player in the tournament, played the South hand at three notrump.

West led the queen of diamonds, and an audience of 500 kibitzers, watching all four hands on a huge display board, fully expected Hamman to go after the clubs and go down.

SOUTH'S HOPES

South could expect to get three spades, two hearts, two clubs and one diamond.

He could develop his ninth trick in clubs if either opponent had a singleton or doubleton club honor or if the six missing clubs broke 3-3.

If the clubs broke badly, however, playing the clubs would give the defenders two clubs, two diamonds and the ace of hearts.

GOOD ASSUMPTION

Right from the start Hamman assumed that the clubs would break badly.

The opening bid and in the opening lead indicated that West had length in both spades and diamonds.

There wasn't much room in his hand for clubs.

Hamman won the first trick in dummy with the king of diamonds, cashed the top spades and led the king of hearts.

West refused the trick, and Hamman next cashed dummy's top clubs. Then he led another heart, and turned the lead over to Pietro Forquet, the Italian master who held the West cards.

NOTHING ELSE

Actually, West led diamonds, so that Hamman eventually got the ten of diamonds as his ninth trick.

Thanks to Hamman's masterful play, West had nothing but spades and diamonds, so that he had to give declarer the ninth trick no matter what he led.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer bids one heart, your partner doubles, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ Q 10 9 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one spade.

Prefer a suit response to your partner's takeout double whenever you can.

It is particularly desirable to respond in an unbid major suit.

ALMANAC

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter; the morning stars are Venus and Saturn; the evening star is Mercury.

German composer Jacques Offenbach was born on this day in 1819.

On this day in history:

In 1837, Victoria became Queen of England.

In 1893, jurors in New Bedford, Mass. found Miss Lizzie Borden innocent of murdering her father and stepmother. The bodies of the elder Bordens had been found hacked to death in their home in Fall River, Mass., on Aug. 4, 1892.

In 1899, the United States Navy seized Guam, largest of the Marianas Islands, in the Spanish-American War.

A thought for the day — American clergyman and philosopher Reinhold Niebuhr said: "Goodness armed with Power is corrupted; and pure love without power is destroyed."

TIME AND TIDE

WEST MARIN

What Is The Need For General Plan?

By ROBERT M. COPPOCK
(First of two articles)

West Marin has been hit by controversies as the county planning department prepares a general plan for the area, hoping to guide development.

But is a general plan needed? Will it change the future of an area? What happens to a community when a general plan has been developed for it?

The questions were raised recently by Tomales landowner Robert Cremean. The Independent-Journal passed the questions on to the county planning department. Senior planner Edward L. Inskeep suggested a look at Novato or Tiburon, both of which had general plans approved about 10 years ago.

But first, a look is needed at the procedure of forming, approving and using a general plan. The following outline was given by Robert Lagle, Novato's planning director:

Initially, someone must decide to have a general plan. That decision has already been made by the Marin County Board of Supervisors, which has ordered general plans drawn up for each area of the county eventually.

Second, in a specific area, someone must decide who will draw up the plan. It can be the county or city staff or an outside consultant.

Third, usually, there is some attempt to find out what the community's residents would like their area to look like in 20 years or so. In the last few years the custom as been to appoint a large citizen's committee to study the area and make recommendations.

Lagle said only a few members of the committee turn out for meetings.

Therefore, he said, the result is a compromise between wishes of these few persons and the ideas of the professional planner.

Finally, after months or years of study, a document comes forth, the preliminary draft of the plan, usually about 100 pages long with extensive use of maps and charts.

"Then you hold hearings—to which nobody comes," said Lagle. The hearings are first held by the planning commission and later by the board of supervisors or, in the case of a city, by the city council.

During the hearings, the plan can be changed. If major disagreement is found, the plan may be sent back for more study, then further hearings. Finally, a plan is adopted, supposedly showing how land in the area will be developed.

That is not the end of the story, however. Two other actions are necessary and a third is often added.

First, the land must be zoned in accordance with the plan. The general plan is a guide, but it is not the law. Zoning specifically controls what a parcel of land may be used for. In theory, if there is a general decision to zone in violation of the plan, the plan should be restudied and changed.

That brings up the second point. The plan is not static, just because it is written down on paper. It is supposed to be reviewed once a year to see if changing conditions require a plan change.

The third thing often done is preparation of special smaller plans for particular functions, such as parks, or special areas, such as an existing downtown neighborhood.

(Tomorrow: Do communities turn out as planned under a general plan? The case of Novato.)

Chiefs Vetoed By McNamara

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional testimony confirms that Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara has rejected recommendations of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to call up Army reserves for duty in Viet Nam.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, released Sunday night a heavily censored transcript of the Joint Chiefs' testimony during subcommittee hearings last May.

The transcript disclosed that the callup recommendation had been made three times since last spring by the four-star Joint Chiefs, although Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff, later conceded that McNamara's decision proved sound.

Bridge League Picks Directors

Six new directors were elected last night by the Marin Unit of American Contract Bridge League at its annual election party and dinner.

New directors are Maribelle Dupuis of Belvedere, Gloria Robbins of Novato, Bud Waigand of Mill Valley, Charles Harris of Lagunitas, Dale Grant of Strawberry, and Col. Graham Jackson of Tiburon.

President Lou Sasselli of Corte Madera presided at the election party, held at Marin Jewish Community Center in San Rafael.

Mrs. Patricia Zimmerman of San Rafael headed the dinner committee, and Dr. Paul Stillson directed the bridge tournament which followed the dinner.

Burglars Took No Bank Loot

The burglars who broke into the Redwood National Bank in San Rafael via the roof Thursday night did not appear to have got anything for their trouble.

Bank president Byron W. Leydecker said today, "Nothing appears to be missing, but the FBI is looking into it."

The intruders used a ladder to climb to the roof from the top of an adjacent building, forced a shuttle in the roof and prowled about inside.

Second Deck Report To Bridge Committee

The Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District board will hold a meeting of its committee of the whole Thursday to receive a written report from the Tudor Engineering Co. on Clifford E. Paine's report on a possible second deck for the bridge.

The meeting will be at 10 a.m. in the Cosmopolitan Room of the St. Francis Hotel in San Francisco.

Many Schools Not Used In Summer But New Building Goes On And On

California's 6,000-plus schoolhouses will be quiet this week, except where contractors are busy adding rooms.

Next week and the week following, some of them — perhaps 1,000 in all — will open part of their rooms for optional summer sessions of five to eight weeks. More than 5,000 others will remain out of use until September.

Meantime, the state's 1,586 school districts are adding new school buildings at the rate of about 520 per year, or 10 every week. Getting the money to build these is becoming increasingly difficult as voters rebel against bond issues and state loans.

TO MANY PEOPLE, it appears uneconomic to spend big money for school buildings, then have them stand idle three months of every year.

However, the latest attempt in California to utilize school buildings year-around went by the board last month when a plan for all-year operation of Del Campo High School in the San Juan Unified School District, near Sacramento, was postponed because only half of the minimum of 800 students needed for full-scale summer operation signed up.

The Del Campo attempt was the brainchild of Principal William T. Bode. He proposed to operate the school year-around, with students required to attend nine months but permitted to attend the whole year, and with advancements at the end of each quarter on the basis of the individual student's accomplishments.

BODE EVEN succeeded in getting state underwriting for his experiment, with Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene of Sacramento introducing a bill appropriating $145,000 for the first year's operation, which was passed. But the students — and their parents — wouldn't go for it.

Parents generally are opposed to all-year school operation, according to a survey made this year by the California Elementary School Administrators Assn. Of nearly 4,000 parents queried, 80 per cent expressed opposition to operating the schools year-around with resultant staggering of vacations.

Yet many of these same parents object to the high cost of building so many new schools.

BEGINNING IN 1957, a citizen study committee in Sequoia High School District in San Mateo County made a two and onhalf year study of means for better utilization of school plants. The study resulted from long agitation by Raymond L. Spangler, publisher of the Redwood City Tribune and advocate of the four-quarter system.

Out of it, the committee developed what it called the "Spangler Schedule" for four quarter operation of high schools, with two weeks vacation between quarters, besides the customary Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving and other vacations now incorporated in the school year.

One group would start school July 1, getting 10 weeks vacation the folowing spring. the next would enter Spet. 1; the third would enter Dec. 1; the fourth, March 1.

This arrangement would mean each group would have regular nine-month school years with regular 10-week vacations, plus the two weeks between quarters, but the long vacations would be staggered.

HOWEVER, reported Spangler, "the program stubbed its toe on two obstacles: faculty reluctance to change, and student resistence to off-season vacations."

The faculty reluctance was explained, in part, by this comment in the committee's report: "Opportunities for professional growth for teachers through attendance at college summer sessions would be curtailed."

Translated, this means the teachers employed during the summer would miss out on the special summer school courses offered by state colleges, by which they add units of credit to bring automatic pay raises on the standard teacher salary schedule.

PART OF THE reluctance by parents and students, the report indicated, resulted from union contracts which specify that vacations be given only in summer.

However, these union contracts were so drawn, at least in many cases, just because schools are closed in the summer — and workers want to be able to take children along on vacation trips.

The state colleges now are being pushed into four-quarter operation themselves, so the special summer-only courses for teachers may be on the way out.

Perhaps events are moving toward year-around use of the schools.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Seasonal Hay Fever Common During Months Pollen Is Worst

VAN DELLEN

Seasonal hay fever is an allergic condition which occurs at certain months of the year. Pollen is the chief offender and causes trouble when the concentration in the air is high enough to bring about discomfort to those allergic to these specific substances. In a typical attack the nose itches and feels irritated and the victim sneezes as though pepper had been blown into his face. Congestion of the eyes and nasal membranes follows causing a profuse watery discharge of the eyes and nose. Other allergic manifestations may arise such eczema, asthma, hives, or migraine.

WHEN THE physician is confronted with this story he usually recommends a series of skin tests with extracts of pollen. The first materials selected are those prevalent during the time of the year in which the individual complains.

The pollinating season varies according to location, but in most states tree hay fever arrives in May and continues until July. Allergy to grass pollen appears in June and persists sometimes until September. Sniffles that come on about mid-August and last until September or October usually are traceable to ragweed.

Tests are done with other pollens that come from vegetations in the neighborhood, because they often show up as potential irritants. After all, hay fever sufferers may be sensitive to one or any combination of weeds, grasses, or trees. A positive reaction exists when a wheal, surrounded by a red area, appears over the injected site of the skin scratch.

MOST ALLERGISTS grade the positive reactions by size. One plus, for example, is mild whereas four plus has all the trimmings. But a positive reaction to a particular irritant does not mean that it is producing symptoms, the culprit must be in the air at the time that the individual is bothered.

The most effective way to contend with hay fever is to avoid the allergens. This is done by escaping to the northwoods, mountains, sea shore, or taking an ocean voyage. Air conditioning with special filters is next.

Nasal decongestants and the antihistaminics also are of value. The steroids such as cortisone are helpful but should be used only for a short time. Most allergists recommend desensitization because it tends to minimize symptoms and may prevent asthma later in life.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

DIPHTHERIA

J. I. writes: Must an adult with a positive reaction to the Schick test be given diphtheria antitoxin?

REPLY

A positive Schick test means that the individual is susceptible; to be on the safe side, toxoid antitoxin should be given.

MUSTARD GAS

L. D. writes: Is mustard gas used in the treatment of cancer?

REPLY

It is used in leukemia, with variable results and occasionally in cancer of the lung and Hodgkin's disease.

SKIN ERUPTIONS

E. R. writes: Is contact dermatitis the same as eczema?

REPLY

No. The rash in both conditions may be identical but in one the cause is internal and in the other, external.

LAW IN ACTION

From the State Bar Of California

Relationships Of Duty To Law

If someone owes you no duty to look out for your care, he is not responsible for your injury. When sued such a defendant can ask the court to dismiss the case.

For example in a recent case, Mike Mopper cleaned a cafe at night. Sometimes his wife would help him. They often took along their four year old girl.

Mike filled up a bucket of hot water and set it down to clean the restaurant floor. He did not know that health rules required the water for dishwashing purposes to be scalding hot. When his little girl fell in the bucket she was badly burned.

Mike sued the cafe for maintaining the water at such a high temperature. But the judge dismissed the case since the cafe owed no legal duty to the child. The father, himself, was responsible for the bucket of hot water. Even if the cafe had a duty to warn workers of the hot water, the owner couldn't have foressen that Mike would use the hot water without diluting it with cold water. As a result the owner had no duty to prevent the injury.

In another case a service station sold gasoline in an open bucket, in violation of the city ordinance. The buyers used the gas to burn down a bar. Some patrons were badly burned as a result. The judge jailed the arsonists.

The patrons tried to sue the service station owners for selling the gasoline, but the court ruled that they owed no legal duty to the patrons. They could not forsee nor prevent such a criminal act, even though they did break the law by selling the gas in an open can. The illegal act was not the cause of the injury.

In other cases, the parties may agree in advance to release another from any liability, and the court will enforce such a agreement in some cases.

Thus a tenant agreed with his landlord to keep the apartment and furnishings in good repair. After several months use, the wall bed did not work well. The tenant complained about it to the landlord but did nothing himself to fix it. One day the bed crashed down and injured the tenant.

Does the tenant have a valid claim against the landlord? No, in his lease the tenant had assumed the duty of keeping the apartment in good repair.

Some contracts waiving responsibility will not be enforced. A parking lot owner cannot make parkers agree never to sue even when he is to blame.

Note: California lawyers offer this column so you may know about our laws.

"Come quick! It's the one about the car with tiger's paws!"

Viewers Urged To Be Choosy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The newly designated chairman of the Federal Communications Commission has a tip for the nation's television viewers: be more selective in deciding what programs to watch.

"One should choose his programs like his reading material," said Rosel H. Hyde, 66, white-haired dean of federal regulators who was picked by President Johnson Saturday to head the agency that rides herd on broadcasters.

He described his own television habits as selective and recommended that his fellow viewers be judicious, too, "just like I would recommend that anyone going to the library should not start to read everything that might be convenient."

Summer School Expects 2,300

About 2,300 Tamalpais School District students were expected to enroll in summer school this week at Redwood, Tamalpais and Drake High schools.

Some classes began today, while others will open Wednesday. The session will last eight weeks, but students may also sign up for either the first or second four weeks for two or for four hours daily.

Enrollments will be accepted through Friday.

TELEVISION REVIEW

Show About Moon Has Power, Drama

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—"Two Weeks On The Moon," a Sunday evening CBS-TV documentary analyzing what the Surveyor I craft achieved in its soft lunar landing, employed ingenious sets to re-create the drama and inform the viewer.

Although a lengthy part of the last section of the one-hour program involved a less than satisfactory discussion by experts, the first 30 minutes or so were presented from a moonscape replica of the area where Surveyor I landed.

This set, built at the network's Hollywood studios and "based on information transmitted back to earth by photos from Surveyor —," was the focal point of anchorman Charles Kuralt's lively and interesting summaries.

On the set of the replica was a model of Suveyor, and with all these elements helping to take the subject out of the dull rehash approach, the viewer feltthat perhaps one actually could be the way the craft was set up on the moon.

Walking around the "moon," Kuralt was particularly on target in his informal talk with an expert, Dr. Leon Jaffe, who also was excellent in his casual and human approach for the viewing audience.

Pictures taken by Surveyor I, which sent back more than 10,000 photos, also were on display in this delightfully unstodgy production, and so was a scaled-down model of the way and places in which earthlings might some day operate on the moon.

The camera angles used to film the model and the moonscape replica were especially effective in creating the drama of the documentary.

Unfortunately, the discussion among four experts who differed sharply on what they thought the moon landing meant was too often repetitive, aimless and even overly intricate for the viewer at times, without compensating explanation.

Kuralt's windup of the hour was incisively put. Although we may all hope it is an American who lands first on the moon, he noted, it is still an achievement for mankind no matter who gets there first; or, as he put it: Who cares now that Columbus was an Italian and that he sailed for Spain?

Federal Money Aid On Water Pollution

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — The need for assistance to industry by the federal government in stream pollution abatement is highly apparent, says Sen. Jennings Randolph, D-W.Va.

Randolph, chairman of the Senate Public Works Committee, said at a seminar here that Congress cannot ignore the problem very long. He said it is becoming so urgent that in some instances industrial waste is given higher priority than municipal waste treatment in the clearing of streams.

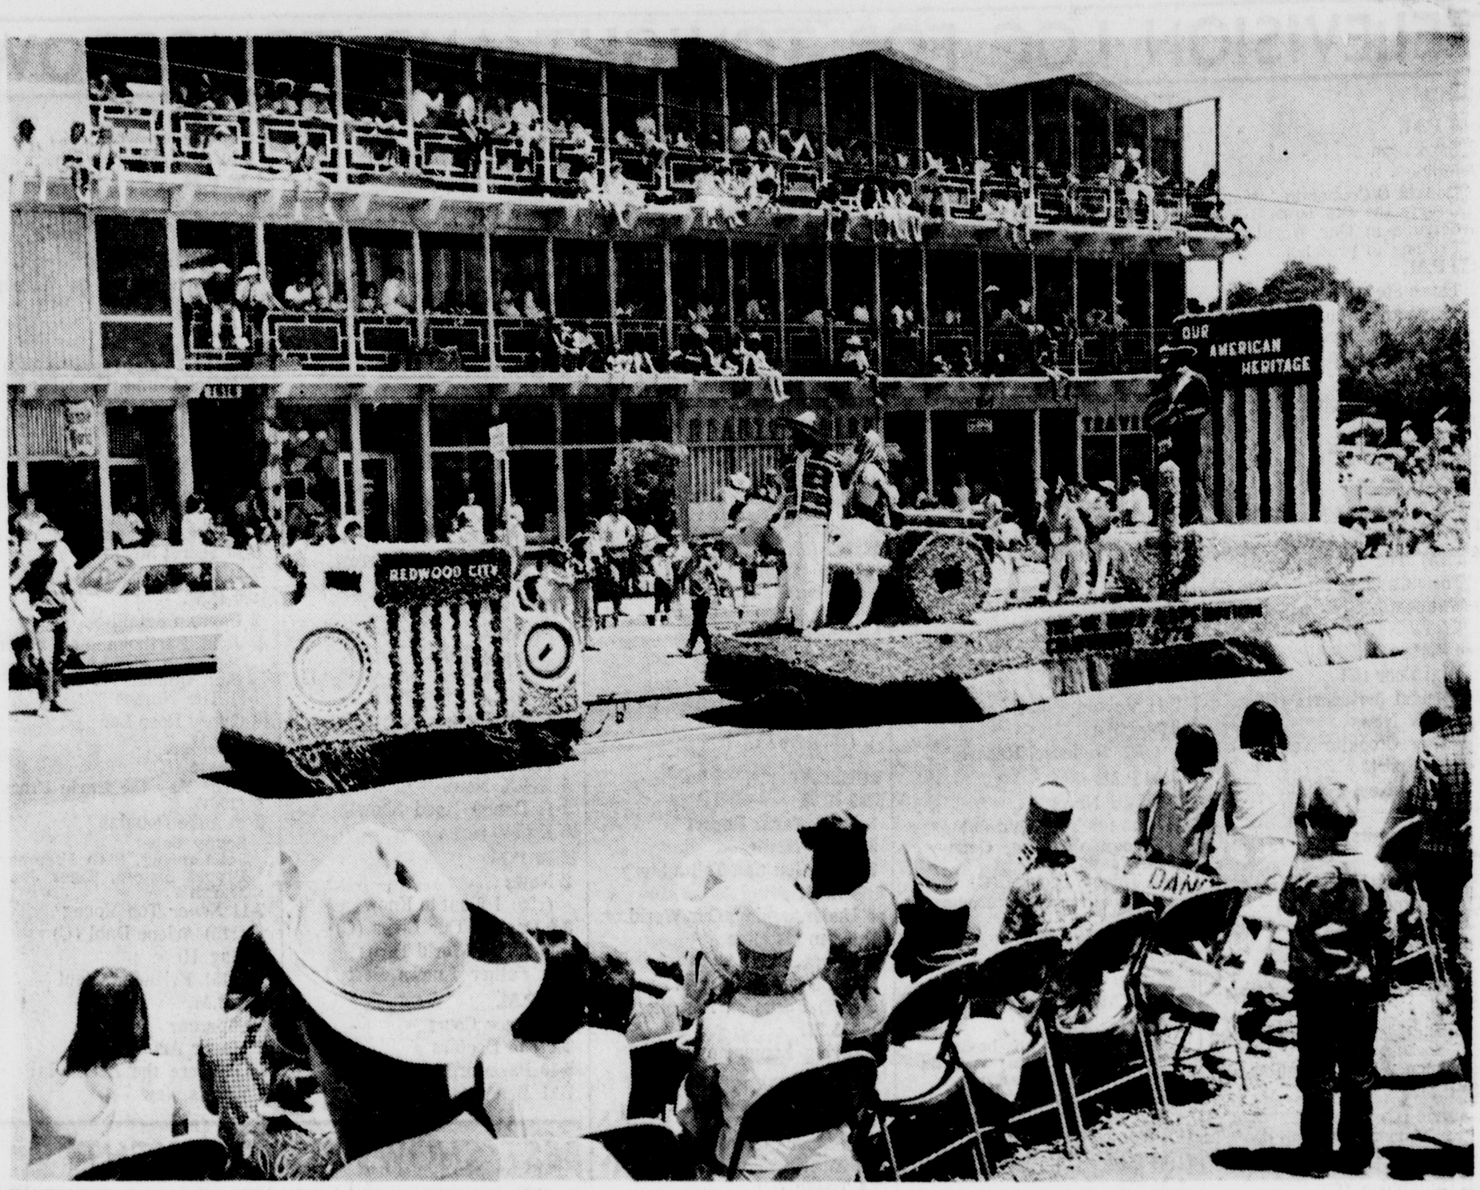
WESTERN WEEKEND HOT CAKES—A buckeroo breakfast was served to 1,600 customers by the Mariners Club of the Presbyterian Church in the Lee Brothers supermarket parking lot to open Novato Western Weekend festivities Saturday. Here Lee Anderson and Jim Harrington flipped the hotcakes as a long line of patient breakfasters stretched all the way to Grant Avenue.



PARADE PANORAMA—Saturday's Western Weekend parade was watched by an estimated 20,000, who lined the route for two and one-half hours in blazing sunshine. This colorful float, depicting the De Anza expedition to California in 1775, was entered by Redwood City.

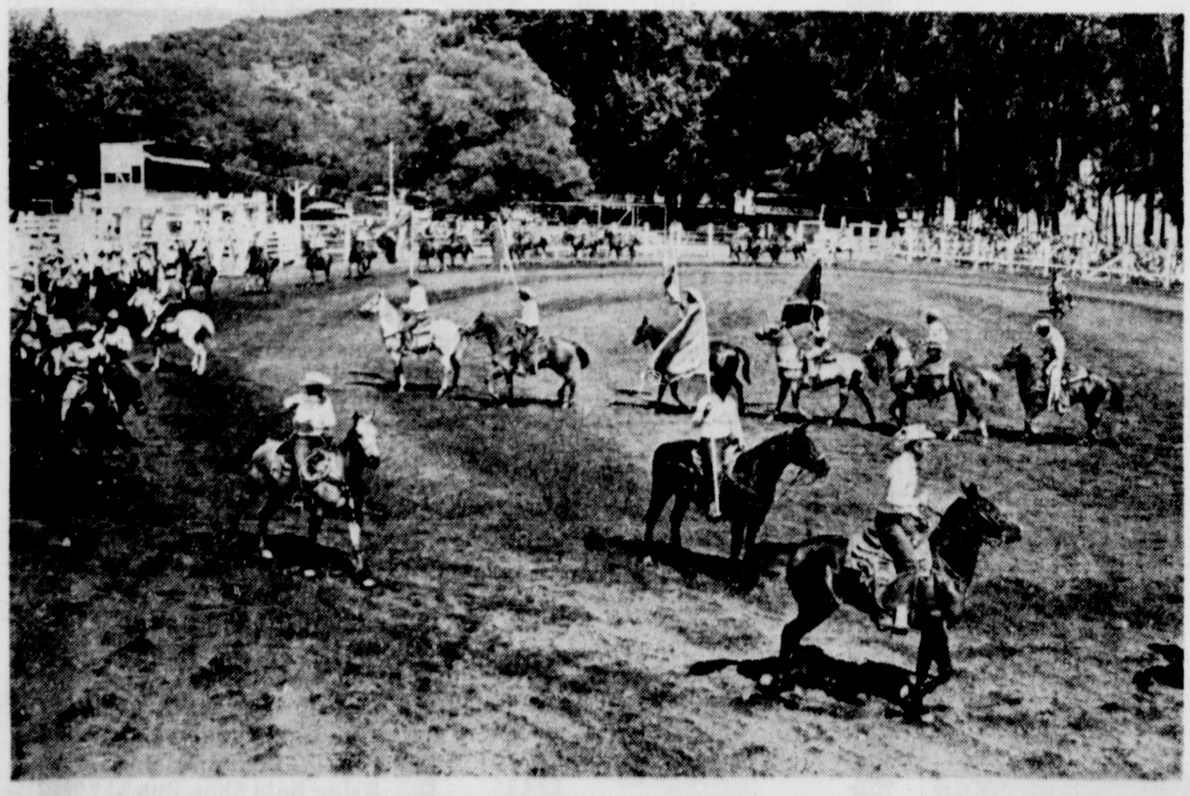
WATER FIGHT — Soggy firemen battled amid snaking hoses and fierce jets of water as the Kentfield Fire Department fought the Novato Fire Department in the annual water fight. Kentfiled won 11 to 0, but the battle only went for three quarters, as a grass fire caused hurried abandonment of the game, and all the contestants dashing off to fight the blaze.

OFF HE GOES—A bronco kicks up with gusto as he unseats Neal Clayton, a contestant in the bareback riding category at Saturday's rodeo.

TALL IN THE SADDLE — Children's Club of Concord entered a fleet of unicycles ridden by children dressed in scarlet costumes in the comic novelty category of the parade. These two monster unicycles brought up the rear of the entry.



PAGEANTRY — AND A CLOWN — Everybody loves pageantry, like that at the grand entry of the Novato Western Weekend rodeo (above), which was watched by some 2,500 Saturday and again yesterday. And everyone loves a clown, like the one passing out free gum balls to children along the parade route Saturday (at right). They were both very much part of the traditional celebration. Giants Drop Finale In Record Series

LOS ANGELES (AP)—There's nothing in sports to equal the rivalry of the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco Giants. If you don't believe it, check the Walter O'Malley and Horace Stoneham bank accounts.

Since the Dodgers moved out of Brooklyn in 1958, their 88 games in Los Angeles against the Giants have drawn 3,785,955 cash customers.

Figuring that on an average it costs each fan $4 a game for ticket, parking and concessions, Dodger owner O'Malley must have grossed more than $15 million since 1958 just on Giant games alone.

The California rivals, both prime National League flag contenders, wound up a rousing weekend series here yesterday as Willie Davis hit a tie-breaking single in the eighth inning and gave the Dodgers the third and deciding game, 2-1.

The series drew 158,410, a Dodger Stadium record, and raised Dodger home attendance to 1,013,686 for 32 dates this year.

At that rate, the defending world champions would draw 2,471,000 for the entire season.

The second straight sell - out crowd yesterday watched Don Drysdale of the Dodgers do something with a bat that he hasn't been able to do lately on the mound: That's help win a game.

Independent-Journal Sports

FOURTH SECTION Mon., June 20, 1966 29

Drysdale, called off the bench as a pinch hitter, started the winning eighth inning rally with a single. Pinch runner Bart Shirley broke the 1-1 tie when he scored on a two-out single by Willie Davis.

Willie Davis played another important role in the victory when he threw out a runner at the plate in the fifth inning.

But, as usual, the Dodger story was pitching.

Claude Osteen, Phil Regan Ron Perranoski combined to pitch an eight hitter against a San Francisco team that managed only three runs in the last two games of the series.

Regan, a candidate for "comeback player of the year" honors, choked off a San Francisco threat in the eighth inning and gained his fifth victory in six decisions. He also has four saves and a 1.47 earned run average.

He's the veteran righthander the Dodgers acquired from Detroit last winter in a trade involving utility infielder Dick Tracewski. Regan won only six games in his last two seasons with the Tigers.

The Dodgers tied the game 1-1 in the seventh inning after Lou Johnson and Jim Lefebvre hit singles which drove starter Bob Bolin from the mound. Lefthander Joe Gibbon (3-4) let in the tying run on pinch hitter Al Ferrara's infield force out.

The Giants averted a shutout in the first inning when Willie Mays doubled and drove in Jim Davenport, who had singled.

The victory lifted the Dodgers within two games of the first place Giants and kept them a half game behind Pittsburgh.

Drysdale will pitch against Robin Roberts at Houston tonight as the Dodgers open a tour calling for three games against the Astros, four against Atlanta and three against Cincinnati.

GIMENO UPSETS LAVER IN ST. LOUIS FINALE

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Spain's Andres Gimeno upset sop-seeding Rod Laver of Australia here yesterday to capture the $17,000 U.S. professional hardcourt tennis championships, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

It was the first 1966 tournament victory for Gimeno and the first time this season a non-Aussie has netted a victory.

Gimeno collected $3,128; Laver, $2,176; Pancho Segura, $1,632; and Earl Butch Buchholz, $1,224. Segura downed Buchholz, 8-3, in an eight-game pro set for third place.

In the doubles competition finals yesterday, Ken Rosewall and Lew Head outlasted Buchholz and Laver, 6-4, 4-6, 8-6. The winners drew $475 each and the losers $375.

The pros move on to Peacock Gap for a $20,000 tournament starting Wednesday.

Casper's Charge, Palmer's Collapse—A Tie!

Peacock's Publicity Jackpot; Casper Makes Quite A Racquet

I MUST SAY, Peacock Gap is getting the publicity this week.

First, Billy Casper' miraculous rally and Arnold Palmer's greatest el foldo since Goliath yesterday in the U.S. Open gave the Gap a fair amount of ink.

Casper, you see, is paid to represent Peacock Gap Racquet Club and I'll bet you're standing there with a silly grin on your face trying to associate golf with a racquet club. Well, Billy originally signed a contract with Peacock Gap Golf Club, but when Jerome Draper Jr. sold the links portion of the Gap and retained ownership of the Racquet, Beach and Swim Club, he kept the pro golfer's contract in his pocket.

IN FACT, on the eve of the Open, Draper told me, "Wouldn't it be funny if Billy won the Open? He'd be the first golf champion in history to play out of a racquet club." Funny? It's a riot.

Another publicity scoop for Peacock will take place this week when the touring tennis pros play in Draper's $20,000 invitational tourney. The Peacock Gap dateline will be dispatched to far away places.

MOREOVER, THE wedding in San Rafael this afternoon of Rod Laver, the world's greatest tennis pro, will get additional publicity.

GETTING BACK to the U. S. Open, Casper brought his own rooting section with him yesterday which proved even more loyal than Arnie's Army was to Palmer. Eleven-year-old Linda Casper and nine-year-old Billy followed their dad for all 18 holes and never gave up hope, even though the family breadwinner was seven strokes behind at one stage.

"I have faith in my father," Linda said, "and tomorrow will be a happy day. We're going to win it with flying colors."

LINDA ALSO said her mother "about fainted" during the tense finish.

Casper's daughter added, "We thought he would win it when, after he practiced here, he told us he loved the course. He said it was his kind of a course. He was excited."

Yes, it was an exciting Father's Day for the Casper family.

SOME OF THE pro golf tour's top pros who played in the U.S. Open, including the colorful Doug Sanders, visited the San Geronimo National Course for a round of relaxing golf this morning. They had planned to play at the Olympic Club again today, but the playoff spoiled that. Which made San Geronimo pro Tom McHugh quite happy.

DADDY CAME THROUGH—Billy and Linda Casper, who never gave up hope that their father Billy Casper would come through on father's day, are shown with their father and mother after Casper charged back to tie Arnold Palmer in the U.S. Open Tournament in San Francisco. They walked the full 18 holes of the final round. (AP Wirephoto)

Arnie Tells Of Mistake

By BOB GREEN

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I'll be eating buffalo meat before long," Arnold Palmer said.

He had just blown a seven-stroke lead in the final round of the U.S. Open Golf Championship and fallen into a tie at 278 with Billy Casper, the one-time fat man who lost 50 pounds on an exotic diet of bear meat, buffalo steaks and blueberries.

They met in an 18-hole playoff, the fourth in the last five years for the Open title, starting at 10:30 a.m. today. Palmer, the 1960 champion, has been involved in two previous Open playoffs, losing to Jack Nicklaus and Julius Boros. Casper, the 1959 champ, has not been in an Open playoff.

Both Palmer and Casper, who were playing head to head, pointed to the 15th hole as the key in the weird final round yesterday. Palmer, playing with the verve and fire of old, birdied the first two holes, charged out to a seven-stroke lead and appeared on his way of breaking Ben Hogan's Open record score of 276.

With seven holes to go, he had a six-stroke margin "and I was playing for second," Casper said. "I was looking at the scoreboard to see how Nicklaus and Tony Lema were doing.

"Arnold thought he was going to shoot a 274 and I did, too. It looked like he had come and gone with the tournament."

But he hadn't.

FIRST MISTAKE

"When we made the turn, I started thinking about shooting a 274 and that's when I made my first mistake," Palmer said. "When we'd finished the 15th I began to wonder. I knew what could happen, and that's what did happen."

What happened was this:

The muscular Palmer, golf's all-time leading money winner, dropped a stroke with a bogey at 13. On 15, Casper ran in a 20-foot birdie putt and Palmer was in a trap, wedged out and two-putted for a bogey.

That cut it back to three, and it went to one on 16 with another Casper birdie and another Palmer bogey. Billy dropped in a 15-foot putt, while Palmer hit a tree, was in a trap and two-putted.

Casper parred the 17th and Palmer was in the left rough, then the right rough, and two-putted from seven feet for a bogey that tied it. They parred the 18th, Palmer two-putting from 35 feet and Casper from 20.

Palmer finished with a 71 and Casper with a 68 for the par 70, 6,917-yard Olympic Club's Lakeside layout.

"The 13th was the start of my downfall," Palmer said. "I can't recall ever having that big a lead and losing it. The 15th was the really big hole. That cut it to three. You can lose three on one hole and I damn near did.

"Had I had a four or five-stroke lead going into the last three, I might have played it a little different."

But he didn't. And now he has to try again for the title that has eluded him twice before in playoffs.

Nicklaus, the Masters champion, finished with a 74 for 285. Lema and Dave Marr, the present PGA champion, tied at 286, Lema with a 71 and Marr with 73.

Phil Rodgers was sixth with a 74 for 287, while four-time champion Ben Hogan qualified for next year's Open with a final round 70 for 291. Defending champion Gary Player of South Africa finished far back with a 293 after a final round 69.

If they are still tied after 18 holes, they return to the first tee for a sudden death playoff. Palmer has been in 20 playoffs in his pro career, winning 12 of them. Casper has been in five, winning three.

MILL VALLEY FUSS

Controversial Manager Ousted By Li'l League

Astengo, who started a stir in Mill Valley's Little League last week when he lashed out at other managers for their "must-win philosophy" and strict adherence to rules, was relieved of his managerial duties by the Mill Valley Little League Board of Directors.

Astengo had been asked to resign but refused to do so.

The furor started when Astengo attempted to use a 10-year-old player who had missed the required signup earlier this year.

The Racoon's played Saturday's game against the Bears under new manager Gene Huff, former manager of the Bears. The Racoons, who have an 1-11 record, lost, 26-2, as Astengo watched from the stands.

Fords Humiliate Mighty Ferraris In Le Mans Race

LE MANS, France (AP) — Ford is the first American auto maker ever to win at Le Mans—much less take the top three places in the 24-hour marathon race.

And in the process the American cars pounded archrival Ferrari down to humiliating eighth and tenth places.

Henry Ford II glowed with pleasure yesterday as he handed victory bouquets to Ford Drivers Bruce MacLaren and Chris Amon, who were declared winners in a computer-figured finish.

It was these two New Zealanders and their teammates in 12 other starting Fords who ground the 14 Ferraris out of contention within 10 hours, leaving only two low finishers, a far cry from the six straight victories Ferrari had captured almost automaticaly since 1960.

Fords accomplished in 1966 what Chrysler, Stutz, Deusenburg and the Cadillac-based Briggs Cunningham specials — beat the Europeans in their own toughest test of high speed machinery.

The cost was enormous. Published figures have said $400,000 for the Le Mans trip alone and $9 million for the entire three-year-old racing effort. These are figures which Ford officials neither confirm nor deny.

The investment gave Ford both the speed and the depth it needed. The eight fastest Fords, all with seven-liter V8 engines, quickly dominated the top places. Dan Gurney of Costa Mesa, Calif., began setting lap records nearly every other time around the 8.3 miles laid out mostly on public roads winding through hills and woods.

But after four hours of playing the jackrabbit, the Fords began coming into the pits, and the fastest Ferraris, new four-liter P-3 models, took over first and second places.

Ford's troubles ran the gamut from a rear hood that blew off into the grass to an engine that flew to pieces. A few of the American cars began petering out.

Then the Ferrari camp ran into difficulties. One of the P-3s went out with a frozen transmission. Ludovicov Scarfiotti of Italy smashed the snout of another P-3 against a couple of slow French cars. Finally, the third went out with mechanical ailments.

After clinching victory, the Ford team had to decide just which drivers should be allowed to win.

Ken Miles of Hollywood, Calif., was picked because it would have given him consecutive victories in endurance races in Fords this year.

But in a Le Mans start the car at the head of the line will have traveled a few feet less for the same number of laps than the car in the next position. Miles was therefore 20 yards short of McLaren Amon.

McLaren had gained the 20-yards by placing high in the time trials. McLaren felt sorry about it and Miles smashed a champagne glass in anguish. But the Ford team had won.

Hydro Tragedy—Three Pilots Killed

Independent-Journal Sports
30 Mon., June 20, 1966

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speedboat racer Rex Manchester, who had become tired of running second, said last week he was going to be a winner this season and expected his good fortune to begin with the President's Cup Regatta for unlimited hydroplanes.

His prediction came true yesterday but the 39-year-old former combat marine from Seattle, Wash., who had never won a race in the big boat competition, did not live to see it.

Manchester, runner-up for national honors in 1965 and second last week in Tampa's Sun Coast race, was killed during the regatta, along with three-time national champion Ron Musson, 38, also of Seattle, and Don Wilson, 37, Palmer Beach Fla., a substitute driver.

The racers were killed in two separate accidents at speeds estimated at more than 150 miles per hour while driving their speedboats over the 2½-mile course on the Potomac River.

Manchester, driving Notre Dame, and Wilson, piloting Miss Budweiser, were killed in the championship heat in the approach to the second turn, off National Airport.

"I never won a race last season," Manchester said in an interview last week while testing his craft. "It was a case of almost doing it every time.

"We'll stop that business this year, maybe in Washington."

Officials ended the race immediately after the Manchester-Wilson accident and later declared the winner, based on points earned through the heat preceding the double fatality.

1, Notre Dame, 800. 2, Miss Budweiser, 700. 3, Tahoe Miss, driven by Mira Slovak of Reno, Nev., 600. 4, Gale's Roostertail, Bill Cantrell of Detriot, 525. 5, Miss Chrysler crew, Bill Sterett, of Owensboro, Ky., 495. 6, Miss Lapeer, Warner Gardner of Detroit, 450.

The men were driving boats that averaged 30 feet in length, weighed 6,000 pounds, and all were powered by aircraft engines from World War II except Miss Chrysler Crew, which had an auto engine.

They were built to soar over the surface of the water, much like skipping stones.

Musson, last year's national champion, was driving a new boat. He sat in front of the engine, 10 feet from the bow of the boat, instead of behind the power plant.

He was competing in the afternoon's second elimination and was in hot pursuit of the boat driven by Wilson, subbing for regular Miss Budweiser driver Bob Brow, who was injured in Tampa.

As Musson completed the first lap, the craft took off from the water, bounced, then soared skywards once again. It came down on its nose and exploded.

At the time of the accident, near-perfect water conditions prevailed.

Musson had raced the new Miss Bardahl for the first time Saturday in an elimination race.

Manchester, who had never won an unlimited hydroplane race although he had been successful in the limiteds, and Wilson were the favored drivers at the start of the final heat.

Wilson, in Miss Budweiser, came out of the first turn in the lead. Manchester's boat raced along side Miss Budweiser and, just before the boats were to slow for the second turn, Notre Dame flew upwards, skiddled along its starboard side, then collided with Wilson's boat, which was on the inside. Both boats exploded.

NCAA Track Champs Point To International Action

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Double NCAA winners Randy Matson of Texas A&M and Gerry Lindgren of Washington State will be looking to future meets as they lead the college contingent to the National AAU Track and Field Championships in New York this week.

UCLA's champions also will be well represented.

The first two in each AAU event, plus alternates, will form the American squad to face teams from Poland July 15-16 at Berkeley and from Russia July 23-24 at Los Angeles.

"I am looking ahead to the National AAU and want to make the U.S. team for the Polish and Russian meets," Matson said after setting a record of 67-1½ in the shot put in the NCAA meet at Indiana University Friday.

"Yes, I also am looking ahead toward the 1968 Olympics," he added.

Matson made it clear that he wasn't just dreaming as he went on to set a discus record of 197 feet Saturday.

Lindgren, a 126-pound sophomore, missed the meet record by less than eight seconds in the six-mile run at 28:07 and set a mark of 13:33.7 in the three-mile.

Besides Matson and Lindgren, UCLA's 440-yard relay team set a meet record in 39.9. Charlie Greene of Nebraska, one of only two defending champions who repeated, tied the mark of 9.3 seconds in the 100-yard dash.

UCLA's drive to an overwhelming victory in the team contest actually started with the rules committee, which reinstate Ron Copeland as high hurdles champion Saturday after he had been disqualified Friday for trailing one foot beside the hurdle.

Besides Copeland and the sprint relay team, Tom Jones in the 220 at 20.9 and the mile relay team contributed 10-point victories as UCLA piled up 81 points, far outdistancing the field.

The only 1965 repeater besides Greene was John Fiore of Boston College, who topped last year's distance of 200-10 with a toss of 201-3½ to win the hammer throw.

San Rafael Wins Tuneup For Tourney

It was a nice warmup.

Litchfield's of San Rafael tuned up for the State Semi-Pro baseball tournament by bombing the San Jose Owls for 14 hits, including a double and a home run by Paul Giambra enroute to a 10-3 victory yesterday at San Rafael's Albert Field.

The win was Litchfield's 23rd in its last 25 games and its fourth straight.

Bob De Rosa worked the first seven innings for Litchfield and gave up six scattered hits and two runs to pick up the win. Buzz McGee mopped up for the winners, allowing just one hit in the final two frames.

Litchfield's exploded for three first-inning runs and just kept on going.

Jess Jacinto stroked four straight singles; Barry Krohn rapped a pair of doubles; Gary Bosch had a single and a three-run triple, and Ed Minoss added a single and a double to the attack.

Giambra's homer, a two-run blast, traveled 425 feet.

Litchfield's starts play in the state semi-pro tournament Saturday afternoon at East Bay.

Mill Valley Semi-Pro '9' Loses, 14-7

Ellis Brooks Chevrolet of San Francisco got help from Mill Valley pitching and broke the game wide open with a nine-run sixth inning to defeat the Mill Valley Merchants, 14-7, in a semi-pro baseball game yesterday at Mill Valley.

Until the sixth inning, Mill Valley had a 6-4 lead. Terry Jarcik had three hits for the losers, including a home run.

Mill Valley had 12 hits and the winners rapped out 15 hits. The loss brought the Merchants' record to 2-1.

NATIONAL LEAGUE ROUNDUP

Pirates Gain On Giants; Reds, Cards, Cubs 'Sweep'

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Harry Walker didn't take to Willie Stargell's puppy but he certainly doesn't mind his being top dog.

Stargell was just that today after his leadoff homer in the 11th inning gave the Pittsburgh Pirates a 2-1 victory over Atlanta and gave him the National League batting lead over three teammates with a .328 average.

But it wasn't long ago that Stargell was in Walker's doghouse because of his puppy.

The Pittsburgh manager takes exception to a number of things, among them dogs at spring training. And he was particularly disturbed when Stargell went to meet Baron — his German shepherd — at the airport.

"The pup's only five months old," Stargell explained. "He might forget me if he doesn't see me for seven weeks."

So Stargell had arranged for the pup to be shipped to spring training. And Walker arranged for a conference with Stargell. The battle eventually ended in a draw when Stargell boarded the dog with a veterinarian.

Stargell has avoided the doghouse ever since by taking steps toward the National League throne room.

Right now he's at the top but in a tight battle with three other Pirates — Matty Alou at .325, Manny Mota at .324 and Roberto Clemente, the titlist the last two years, tied with Houston's Joe Morgan at .321.

Stargell's homer, his 13th, lifted the Pirates to within 1½ games of National League leader San Francisco with their fourth straight victory and their seventh in the last nine games. The Giants were beaten by Los Angeles 2-1.

Elsewhere, St. Louis swept Philadelphia 1-0 and 5-1, Cincinnati took two from the New York Mets 5-0 and 4-2 and the Chicago Cubs crushed Houston in both ends of a doubleheader 9-8 and 8-2.

Bob Veale got the victory for the Pirates, his seventh against five losses, with a five-hitter. He had a shutout until the eighth when Hank Aaron tied the game 1-1 with his 23rd homer.

Alou scored Pittsburgh's first run in the sixth when he doubled for his third hit, moved up on Gene Alley's bunt single and scored on a grounder by Clemente.

Tito Francona hit a homer in each game for the Cardinals, his shot in the sixth inning of the opener giving Ray Washburn the run he needed. to win his duel with Jim Bunning. Washburn checked Philadelphia on two hits.

Bob Gibson, now 10-6, limited the Phillies to three hits in the nightcap. The Cardinals put it out of reach with a three-run fourth inning built on Curt Flood's single, a double by Francona and Tim McCarver's homer.

Milt Pappas scattered seven hits for the Reds' opening game victory in bringing his record to 5-5 and got more than enough batting support from Tony Perez. Perez drove in three runs with a triple and single.

Sammy Ellis gained his third victory against 11 defeats in the nightcap, and his first since May 18. The Mets made four errors and Pete Rose scored the decisive run after reaching base on interference by catcher John Stephenson.

The Cubs showed their power against the Astros with Billy Williams driving in four runs in the first game with a double and homer and adding another homer in the nightcap.

Glenn Beckert's sacrifice fly brought in the winning run in the eighth inning of the opener. The Cubs broke the nightcap open with a six-run fifth built on two-run doubles by Lee Thomas and Byron Browne and a two-run homer by Randy Hundley.

COMING TO PEACOCK

Mike Davies Known As The 'Happy Welshman'

(Another in a series on players who will compete in the Invitational Pro Tennis Tournament this week at Peacock Gap, San Rafael.)

Michael Davies is a happy Welshman.

Davies is happy because his professional tennis career is doing nicely, thank you.

He was ranked eighth among the professionals in a recent poll. He has already beaten Lew Hoad, Earl Buchholz, Frank Sedgeman, Tony Trabert, in tournament play in addition to other wins over Alex Olmedo, Ken Rosewell and Barry MacKay.

He was no slouch as an amateur either. He was England's number one amateur from 1956 to 1960 when he played on England's Davis Cup team. He once won 12 straight cup matches. He was ranked among the world's best 10 for three years.

His professional success lately has been pretty amazing when you consider that Davies combined a teaching career with tennis last year.

Davies is devoting full time to his tennis this year. The rest of the pros had better devote all their time to Davies in a match.

Cal Crew Coach Lemmon Resigns

BERKELEY (AP) — Jim Lemmon, whose coachinggave the University of California three Intercollegiate Rowing Assn. titles in his seven years, there, has given up his crew job to become dean of men on the Berkeley campus.

Lemmon, 45, will be succeeded by Marty McNair, 26, who rowed on Cal's 1960-61 IRA champion crews.

Lemmon also resigned Saturday as assistant director of athletics, a post which will be taken over by Ray Willsey, UC head football coach. He'll continue in his grid role, however.

Double Shutout As Sohner Team Sweeps A Pair

Sohner Tree Service of San Anselmo combined shutout pitching by Gary and Morey Swarm, sparkling defensive plays by left fielder Art Donati, shortstop Ron Jerome and third baseman Milt Hain, and clutch hitting by Ed Schulze to win two softball games over the Concord Merchants Saturday night at San Rafael's Albert Park.

The scores of the North Coast Traveling League contests were 1-0 and 2-0 and their fourth consecutive doubleheader sweep also lifted the Treemen to a third place 8-6 NCTL record. Concord is second at 9-5 while Rector Motors of San Mateo leads the six-team league with a 12-0 mark.

Market Shuts Lower In Moderate Trading

It was a dull session, with little action by groups of specific issues.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.7 million shares compared with 6.59 million Friday.

Losses of fractions to a point or so among key stocks depressed the averages mildly. Down fractionally were Du Pont, Union Carbide, East Kidak, Anaconda, Standard Oil (New Jersey), U.S. Steel and General Motors. Kennecott lost 1.

Fractional gains were made by American Telephone, Texaco, Chrysler, Ford American Motors and General Electric.

Among higher-riced, more volatile issues, IBM gained 3, Polaroid and Xerox 2 each while Zenith lost 2 and Eastern Air Lines was off almost 2.

Sperry Rand, recommended by an advisory service, loomed as the most active issue, rising nearly a point to a new high.

Up nearly 3 were Cooper Industries and Johnson & Johnson. Up about 2 were Dome Mines, Fairchild Camera, Norris Thermador and Colrado & Southern preferred.

Up about a point were Braniff Airways, Beckman Instruments, and Universal American.
